Supporter of Slain Leader Charges That Luis Morones Plotted Revolt to Oust President-Elect.

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Jose Leon Toral, assassin of President-elect Obregon, expressed remorse yesterday. After holding out stoically against persuasion, he broke down when his confessor pleaded with him to tell all he knew. The priest told him he owed it to his church to make a complete public statement of the affair.

Toral was overcome with remorse when he was told the words spoken by Gen. Obregon's widow: "The assassin's greatest punishment will be the grief that is in my heart."

Toral told the police and his confessor that he had made a terrible mistake.

Toral named Manuel Trejo, former employee of the national munitions factory, as the man who gave him the revolver which he used to fire six bullets into Gen. Obregon.

Trejo was the assassin's friend, by going as a devout Catholic.

On the day before Obregon arrived in Mexico City, Toral said, Trejo suggested to Toral that the time had come to kill the General.

Toral followed a dramatic scene. Trejo furnished the revolver and swore that he would risk the country of Obregon. He declared his heroic sacrifice for the cause of religion would gain admittance to heaven.

Assassin Followed General.

Leon Toral was fired with fanatical zeal and snatched the revolver from Trejo, insisting that it should be his privilege to avenge the church. The would-be assassin followed Obregon from the Colima station to the Obregon headquarters. At one time, according to his confession, he was within five feet of the General and was about to shoot him when a bystander got in the way.

He forced his way into the Obregon headquarters and loitered there for an hour, hoping that a chance to shoot Obregon would present itself again. Then Trejo told him of the luncheon in the suburb of San Angel.

Police say they are convinced Trejo is not on his way to the United States, as has been reported, but is in hiding in Mexico City. The police also are looking for a friend of Trejo named Manuel Romero, who, according to the slayer, purchased the revolver.

Object to Keeping Calles.

Deputy Antonio Diaz Soto y Gama, leader of the Agrarians in Mexico and their leader in Congress, gave notice yesterday that public opinion would object to the continuance of President Calles in office after Dec. 1. The legal term of the chief executive ends on that date.

There has been much talk of designating Calles as provisional President after that date, to serve until Dec. 1, 1930.

Gov. Aaron Saez of the State of Nuevo Leon, former Foreign Minister under Presidents Obregon and Calles, and director of Obregon's recent successful presidential campaign, will be acceptable to the Agrarians, Soto y Gama said.

The Agrarian leader also served notice that the administration must be purged of Labor leaders, whom he bluntly charged with moral responsibility for the assassination of Obregon a week ago. He specified Luis Morones as the head of the Laborites.

FORMER U. S. SENATOR R. L. OWEN, DEMOCRAT, WILL SUPPORT HOOVER

Oklahoman Says G. O. P. Nominee Is Best Qualified Man Ever Named for Presidency During His Lifetime.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Robert L. Owen, for 18 years a Democratic member of the United States Senate from Oklahoma, today came out in support of Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee.

Owen's renunciation of the Democratic ticket was announced in a typewritten statement which he handed out personally at the Republican headquarters in the Waldorf Hotel.

"Herbert Hoover, in my opinion," Owen said, "is the best-qualified man ever presented by any party in America for the presidency during my life. He is an American, of American, a great humanitarian, a diplomat and an executive."

Owen's announcement was regarded by Republicans here as "the first fruits of Senator George H. Moses' leadership in Eastern regions."

"If there ever was a man fitted to be an advance agent of prosperity it is Herbert Hoover," Owen's statement continued. "The American people will honor themselves in degree as they honor this very great American."

In discussing the Oklahoma situation with newspaper men after he had issued his statement, Owen said he had no doubt Hoover and Curtis would carry the State.

"Democrats in Oklahoma feel that they are absolved from loyalty to the national ticket by Gov. Smith's repudiation of the platform adopted by the national convention," he said. "The women of the State will vote against the ticket overwhelmingly. Oklahoma fears Tammany Hall and the extension of New York politics through the nation."

HEAD OF CHICAGO POLICE, THOMPSON APPOINTEE, QUILTS

Michael Hughes, Ordered to Run Crooks Out of Town, Announces Resignation.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Michael Hughes, Commissioner of Police, named by Mayor Thompson last year to "run the crooks out of Chicago" in 90 days, today announced that he had resigned.

Hughes yesterday submitted to an operation for removal of his tonsils and is in a North Side hospital.

It was reported that William Russell, Deputy Commissioner, would succeed him. Hughes said his resignation had been in the Mayor's hands for some time.

A few days ago Hughes was reported to have summoned all his lieutenants and charged they had failed to heed his orders to clean up gambling and vice. A few days ago Charles Fitzmorris, City Comptroller and former Chief of Police, resigned. Yesterday there were rumors that Mayor Thompson himself was considering resigning, but these reports were promptly denied by city hall officials.

Mayor Thompson yesterday gave notice of his resignation for a rest, and recently had been reported as in ill health.

WIFE OF OPERA SINGER SEEKS $250,000 IN ALIENATION SUIT

Mrs. Hester Stiles, Concert Pianist, Sues for Divorce; Accuses Mr. John R. MacGinnis.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 25.—Mrs. Hester Stiles, the former Hester Hoff, concert pianist, filed suit for divorce today against Vernon Stiles, grand opera singer, and at the same time brought action for $250,000 damages for alienation of affections against Mrs. John R. MacGinnis, young wife of the Montana and New York copper magnate.

Mrs. Stiles charged that her husband had "sold" his love to Mrs. MacGinnis and instead of building up on his success as an opera singer at Chicago and Boston, had devoted himself to a small real estate business and his love-making.

TELLS OF STUFFING OF BALLOT BOXES IN VARE ELECTION

Philadelphia Registrar at Senate Inquiry, Testifies Return Sheet Was Made Up Before Polls Closed.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—A witness in the Vare-Wilson senatorial election contest investigation today testified that the official report of the vote cast in the fifth division of the First Ward at the 1926 election was entered on the return sheets at noon, seven hours before the polls closed.

The senatorial contest was brought by William B. Wilson, Democrat, who charges that William S. Vare, Republican, was elected United States Senator by fraud. The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections is hearing the contest through a subcommittee, only one member of which, Senator Waterman (Rep.), Colorado, is sitting here.

The witness heard today was Joseph J. Penczak, who served for five years as a registrar. He testified that after the final ballots had been cast Republican division committeemen marked and placed in the ballot box votes in the names of men and women who had not voted. The witness indicated that this was necessary to make the ballots come up to the totals previously fixed.

Penczak said that the division committeemen had virtually forced many voters to take "assistance" in the marking of their ballots. He testified that he did not think that more than 20 persons in the district had voted without assistance. He also saw that "seven out of 10 of the voters" received drinks from the committeemen after casting their ballots.

GOV. SMITH PLANS TO REST IN LONG ISLAND WEEK-END

Will Leave Albany Friday and Confer With Ritchie of Maryland That Night.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 25.—Gov. Smith intends to spend the week-end at Good Ground, L. I., in search of a few days of "absolute" rest. The Democratic presidential nominee will leave Albany Friday afternoon and that night will have a conference in New York with Gov. Ritchie of Maryland. He said today Ritchie was the only man he planned to meet although others probably would attempt to see him.

Gov. Smith plans to go to Good Ground, which is on the south shore of Long Island not far from the eastern tip, on Saturday. He has not determined how long he will remain there.

Asked to comment on reports of Democratic defection in the South Gov. Smith asserted, with emphasis, that he didn't "know a thing about it."

24 HELD IN RAID ON GAMBLING IN CITY CLUB BLDG.

Dice Tables and Paraphernalia Seized by Lieut. Mulcahy in "Progressive Realty" Suite.

TEAR GAS TURNED ON BY POLICE MISTAKE

Two Officers at Side Door Flood Place With Fumes, Temporarily Blinding Everyone Inside.

Red-eyed from tear gas shot into a gambling establishment on the third floor of the City Club building, Eleventh and Locust streets, by two over-zealous detectives during a raid, 24 men, attaches and patrons of the place, were marched from the building at 10 o'clock last night and were taken to police headquarters before a large crowd of homebound moviegoers and strollers in the downtown district.

The objective of the raid was the Progressive Realty Club, which occupies four rooms in a suite on the third floor. Numerous complaints that the club was really a gambling house had been received by police and the raid was decided on after officers got into the place by guile had failed.

Detective Lieutenant Mulcahy, who directed the raid, assigned Detective Leonard Murphy and Howard Bohlen to a side door with gas masks and a cylinder of tear gas, with which they were to go into action if the door was rushed.

Raiders Enter at Front Door.

Having blocked that avenue of escape, Mulcahy, with three other detectives, went to the front door. Stepping into the vestibule, the officers waited for something to happen. Presently a man came out. Detective Tom Hunt thrust his foot into the door before it could be closed and the other raiders followed him in.

A second door, which was quickly closed, the policemen pushed open and found themselves in a room in which groups of men stood around a long dice table, and others were just arising from a card table.

At this juncture Murphy and Bohlen, with their brand-new gas equipment, heard the shuffling of feet and decided that something must have happened. Anyhow, it was a chance to see how the gas worked.

Quickly they adjusted their masks. There was a hissing sound around a clock face, a key-hole, quickly filling the gambling room with acrid, stinging fumes. "Stop that!" shouted Mulcahy and his men in chorus. "We're in here, too!"

After a time the two gas throwers recognized the voices of their comrades and the gas was turned off, but not before everybody in the place had been temporarily blinded by a rush of tears.

Booked for Hearing Tomorrow.

In the room the detectives found dice, chips, a cloth marked for use in playing craps, and cards and a safe which members of the club declined to open. The men arrested in the raid were booked for violation of City Code tomorrow on gambling charges, and were released on bonds.

Among the prisoners was Morris Barnholtz, proprietor of the Grandview Hotel, 3518 Washington. He said he was a member of the Progressive Realty Club which he described as "an organization founded for recreation. He conceded that the members sometimes gathered for "social games."

Another prisoner was Aaron Feinstein of the Laclede Hotel, who said he was secretary of the club. He named another man, not present, as the president. Police think the club is generally the same organization as one that held out at the Laclede Hotel until interrupted by a raid several months ago.

MAYOR LISTENS TO ARGUMENT ON T. S. FRANCHISE

Miller's Attitude in Favor of Bill Violates Campaign Pledge Against Grade Crossings.

TAKES MATTER UNDER ADVISEMENT

Those Attacking Measure Make Specific Points, Those Favoring It Reply With Generalities.

Mayor Miller took the Illinois Terminal 50-year franchise bill under advisement yesterday after listening to a two-hour discussion for and against it at a public hearing attended by 200 persons.

He unexpectedly called for a vote on the measure among those at the hearing, which brought several North St. Louis objectors to the bill to their feet in protest. They had requested that the Mayor hear them and had been surprised that he had turned their request into a public hearing. They felt that the railroad had been permitted to pack the meeting against them.

"Why," exclaimed F. W. Marks, a North St. Louis property owner, "our people who oppose this bill are working people and cannot be here. It is unfair to call for a vote now."

Vote 120 For, 42 Against.

"If you are not satisfied," the Mayor shouted back at Marks, "you can all get out of here. I am doing the manner in which this meeting is being held. I will, those who oppose the bill will rise."

The count was 42.

"Now, all those who favor the bill will rise," the Mayor continued.

"Wait a minute," Mrs. A. C. Kippelbach exclaimed. "There are many employees of the McKinley system sitting down," the Mayor said. "You can all get out of here. I am doing the manner in which this meeting is being held. I will, those who oppose the bill will rise."

The Mayor did not indicate what significance he attached to a vote in those circumstances.

Objections to the Bill.

Opponents of the bill stated their objections in substance as follows: The railroad's plan for building a subway-elevated to connect Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue with the McKinley system would establish three grade crossings—at Cass avenue and Mulanphy and How streets. The grade crossing at Cass avenue, a major east and west thoroughfare over which street cars run at intervals of 45 seconds in the rush hour, would be more intolerable than ever the Wabash-Pelmar grade crossing, since removed, was, and meant more public safety. The Mayor's platform commits him to the long-established city policy of no more grade crossings and his signing of the bill would be a violation of his platform.

The railroad is permitted in the bill to retain its present surface tracks in Twelfth street for the purpose of serving industry. Any considerable addition to industry, which is the only advantage cited for the bill, would result in the constant movement of switch trains over those tracks and more than 20 other dangerous grade crossings near to the business center of the city thus would become a switch yard.

The bill should have been referred to the City Plan Commission, the advisory body charged with informing the legislative branch of the city of the effect of all measures upon the city's welfare as a whole, present and future. It should have been referred to the new Transportation Survey Commission. In any event, there is no justification for the speed with which it has been rushed through the Board of Aldermen. More consideration is needed before a 50-year irrevocable franchise is granted.

The proposal to establish a freight depot at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue means the coming and going of trucks in large numbers over new Twelfth boulevard, designed as a swift-moving thoroughfare to connect North and South St.

$3000 ROBBERY AT EMERSON ELECTRIC

Cash Drawer in Vault Looted Last Night, Employee Reports to Police.

Horace S. Gilliam, treasurer of the Emerson Electric Co., 2018 Washington avenue, reported to police that between $3000 and $4000 had been stolen from two cash drawers in the company vault between last night and this morning. The employees of the electric company spent today on a boat excursion on the Mississippi. Gilliam alone reported at the company offices this morning to receive an express shipment of money to be placed in the company vault. When he attempted to open the two cash drawers, he reported, he saw evidences that they had been pried open. Examination showed several thousands of dollars in currency had been taken. He estimated the loss at close to $4000, although, he said, the amount might be more. A checkup was ordered immediately but was delayed because all the employees of the company were on the outing.

FRAGMENT OF PLANE FOUND OFF COAST OF JUTLAND

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, July 25.—A fragment of airplane wreckage with some silver and bronze colored fabric attached to it has been picked up off the Jutland coast. In the belief that the wreckage may possibly be part of the Nungesser-Col plane, lost last year, the fragment has been sent to Paris for identification.

The wreckage was found by Dr. Forbe, a Danish physician. There was a wireless receiver among the fragments and as the Nungesser-Col plane is the only one missing of apparently similar description, Dr. Forbe communicated with the French legation.

Before the piece of wreckage is sent to Paris it will be studied by two Danish experts who say that it is not improbable that it is a portion of the Nungesser-Col plane, the "White Bird."

J. M. BECK JR. MARRIES MRS. LIONEL TENNYSON

He Was Named as Co-respondent in Poet's Grandson's Suit for Divorce.

Copyright, 1928, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, July 24.—James Montgomery Beck Jr., son of the former Solicitor-General of the United States, married the Hon. Mrs. Lionel Tennyson in the Paddington register office here yesterday. Beck was named co-respondent when Tennyson divorced his wife here July 23, 1927.

Tennyson is son and heir of Lord Tennyson, and a grandson of the English poet, Alfred Lord Tennyson. He married the new Mrs. Beck in 1918 after she was divorced by William A. Bethel. Beck was divorced in Paris, March 26, 1927, by Mrs. Adelaide Wilmerding Beck on the ground of abandonment.

The witnesses to the marriage yesterday were Lord Glenconner, brother of the bride and Boulton Beal of the United States embassy. Mr. and Mrs. Beck left for the continent to join the senior Beck. Mrs. Beck is the only daughter of the first Baron of Glenconner, and a step-daughter of Viscount Grey of Fallodon, Foreign Secretary during the development and beginning of the World War. She is a niece of the Countess of Oxford.

PAT MARR GETS $1,500,000 DECISION IN NEW YORK COURT

Judge Holds He Was Deceived in Exchange of Oil Stock; Lately Out of Reformatory.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—After three years of litigation in New York and Tulsa, Ok., Justice Hattiny yesterday gave a decision that Pat Marr, 29 years old, was induced through misrepresentation to exchange his controlling interest in the Marr Oil Corporation for stock in the Southern States Oil Corporation. The decision directed that the Marr Oil Co. stock be returned to him. About $1,500,000 is involved.

Defendants in the suit were the receivers for the Southern States Oil Corporation, Joseph Tumulty, secretary of the late President Wilson, and Joseph Glass of New York. Marr recently was paroled from the Federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., to which he was sentenced for five years for using the mails to defraud.

It was noticed that both had flat tires, and it is thought the flat tires were punctured by bullets. The firing had been heaviest in the direction of Mike Longo, as indicated by the many bullet holes in the tree near him.

PAIR SLAIN BY MACHINE GUN; GUNMEN RAID SMALL STORE

James Russo and Mike Longo Lose Lives; Jack Griffin Hit by 11 Bullets in Wellston.

OUTBREAKS RENEW FACTIONAL FEUD

Group in Auto Wounds Joseph and Vincent Spicuzza and James Pace in Shop on Commission Row.

Two Italian gangsters, James Russo and Mike Longo, were shot to death and four other men were wounded in two outbreaks of the Italian gang feud this afternoon.

The two Italians were slain and their supposed associate, Jack Griffin, who has a police record, was seriously wounded by a machine gun volley directed on them in a vacant lot at Plymouth and Sutter avenues, Wellston, at 1:30 o'clock.

Two and one-half hours later, in the produce store of Spicuzza & Pace, at 1139 North Third street, "commission row," three men were shot—James Pace and Vincent Spicuzza, partners in the business, and Joseph Spicuzza, a clerk. Vincent Spicuzza is an uncle of the Vincent Spicuzza who was killed near Chicago a year ago at the opening of the feud. None of the three was wounded seriously.

Renewal of Gang War.

The killings mark the renewal of the gang war in which the Glannola and Russo factions have been engaged the last year, and which has been inactive so far as public shooting is concerned for the last month.

The three victims of the last shooting are supposed to have been lured into the lot, where they were shot from the half-open door of a shed. Longo, one of those accused, with William Russo, of the murder of Alphonse Palazzolo, which was followed by the murder of Vito Giannola, leaders of a faction of bootleggers and extortionists.

"Commission row" was crowded with traffic when an automobile loaded of gunmen swung up to the Italian produce firm. Piles of boxes seemed to obstruct the view and still the sound of the bullets and there were few persons, even in the immediate vicinity, who knew that anything had happened.

Griffin an associate of the Russos, was also accused of a part in the Palazzolo murder, but prosecution of him and of others indicted in the case, was abandoned after the acquittal of Ralph Calico.

Folke Hind No Witness.

The police have found no one except Griffin, dangerously wounded and close-lipped, who saw the shooting within the lot, or who knew how Russo, Longo and Griffin were induced to enter the fenced inclosure.

The lot, 100 by 150 feet, has a board fence at the west, and wire fences at the other sides. Longo's body was found under a tree in the southeast corner of the lot, about 80 feet from the half-open door of the shed. Russo's body was near the south fence. Their automobiles were near, and three automatic pistols and one revolver were on or near the bodies.

Bullet holes in the door of the shed, and many 45-caliber shells, such as are used in machine guns, indicate that such a weapon was taken there, and that after the three men were in range, it was turned upon them. An old suitcase, left in the doorway of the shed, and containing only some dirty underwear, may have been used in transporting the machine gun.

Persons in the neighborhood saw two automobiles leaving the lot by a driveway just after the shooting. They were a Chrysler sedan and a Buick sedan. They were seen to run north to Page avenue, then east to Ogden avenue and north on Ogden.

It was noticed that both had flat tires, and it is thought the flat tires were punctured by bullets.

The firing had been heaviest in the direction of Mike Longo, as indicated by the many bullet holes in the tree near him.

The Chrysler car was found later

Louis. The purpose for which the new boulevard is to be created would thus be defeated at the outset. The boulevard would be choked at Washington avenue by cumbersome freight trucks, backing in and out of the proposed freight station.

Finally, the franchise bestows a valuable privilege upon the railroad, with no compensation to the city and with no power to the city to compel the railroad to fulfill its promises.

Speakers in opposition. Speakers in expressing this opposition were J. F. O. Keller, member of the Board of Freeholders which drafted the city charter; William Schneider, member of the City Plan Commission; Albert L. Schmidt, attorney representing the Cass Avenue Bank; Dr. J. W. Bechtold, vice president of the North St. Louis Business Men's Association; Rev. C. R. Taylor, rector of Grace church; C. A. W. Speck, rector of Holy Trinity Catholic parish; Mrs. A. C. Krippelahn and F. W. Marks.

Speakers in behalf of the franchise ignored the objections. They dealt in generalities. They held up the railroad's promise to spend $5,000,000 as a glittering thing, sufficing the city with a new prosperity. Sam B. Mitchell, attorney for the Mercantile Trust Co., thought it was "the greatest thing that has come to St. Louis in this generation." Isaac T. Cook, a downtown real estate agent, said it meant "more to St. Louis than anything that has come to us in many years." Neither was explicit in telling how the advantage was to be reaped. Other speakers referred to the fact that "transportation is the life-blood of industry," though North St. Louis speakers had said that their section had 1,000,000 square feet of idle industrial sites, all well-served by transportation and new transportation would not what was needed in the district.

W. J. Holbrook, a real estate dealer, commiserated with the North St. Louis objectors. They did not know what was good for them. "If you want brown, prefer North St. Louis," he told the Mayor, "sign the bill."

General Talk About Progress. Oregon E. Scott, another real estate dealer, referred to the North St. Louis as "well-meaning people, but not so well-informed." He stormed against "obstructionist tactics." He said that every measure of progress in St. Louis met with obstructionists until outside capital was disgusted. "Let's tear away our Chinese wall," he said. He made no reference to the Cass avenue grade crossing.

The only one to be explicit were heads of industry in North St. Louis to whom the right of the railroad to haul freight would mean added transportation service for their personal business. They said the bill would help them.

More Jobs, Says Cassidy. And Maurice J. Cassidy, representing the Building Trades Council, was explicit. If the railroad spent $5,000,000 that would mean more jobs for the members of his organization, he said.

The objectors had reserved 10 minutes of their time for rebuttal, but Attorney Schmidt said he could not answer general arguments like that. He was prepared to support objections to the franchise and the supporters of it had not touched upon the objections.

Others who spoke for the bill are: Edward B. Melner, president of the St. Louis Car Co.; Thomas Dunn, North St. Louis resident; E. O. E. Jennings, business agent of the electrical workers' union; John McKeown, president of the North St. Louis Industrial Association; L. M. Brown, president of the Brown Machinery Co.; C. H. Christine, secretary of the Electrical Board of Trade; and R. H. Schwartzler of the St. Louis Refrigerating & Cold Storage Co.

2 ITALIANS SLAIN, THIRD MAN SHOT IN GANG WAR RENEWAL

at Kienlen and Catalpa avenues. Whiston. The right rear and left front tires were flat, and a bullet hole appeared in the front door near the driver's seat.

One of two cars found near the scene of the killing was Russo's 1924 sedan. The other was a Ford belonging to Mrs. Dorothy Wood, who formerly lived in a house on the lot, which has since been burned. Mrs. Wood was taken to Clayton for questioning.

The Chrysler car was said by the police to belong to Mrs. Wood. Dynamite Found in Shed. In the shed, which is obscured by weeds and shrubbery, a case of 50 sticks of dynamite, a number of dynamite caps and 20 feet of fuse were found. This led county authorities to believe that this was a case of operations for the numerous bombings in St. Louis and vicinity recently.

At the northeast corner of the lot is a concrete floor and foundation, measuring about 50x75 feet, the remains of a former building. At one corner of the floor is a concrete hole, 10 feet square, which looks as though it might have been a liquor vat, and at the south-west corner are marks of a former partition around a space that is stained with rust as though from alcohol barrelling.

Griffin was taken to the office of Dr. John O. Murren, 1394A Hemlock avenue, by three men, who placed him in a chair and departed hurriedly without volunteering any explanation.

The lot, 100 by 150 feet, has a board fence at the west, and wire fences on the other sides. Longo's body was found beneath a large tree in the southeast corner of the lot. Russo's body lay against the south fence.

Weapons found near the bodies were two .45-caliber automatic pistols, one .25-caliber automatic, and one .38-caliber revolver.

Griffin was found when examined at city hospital, to have six wounds. These were in the right shoulder, right breast, right foot, right thigh, a left rib and the left elbow. He refused to answer any questions put by detectives or reporters, except to say that he was 25 years old and lived at 231 North Vandeventer avenue.

With today's two killings, the St. Louis list in the St. Louis Italian gang warfare, in a little less than one year, reaches a total of 21. This includes the killing near Chicago of "Shorty" Russo and Vincent Spicuzza, which was part of the St. Louis system of feuds.

Russo's Record. James Russo, who, with his brothers, William, Charles and Lawrence, have been connected in arrests by the police with Italian gang activities, lived at 1218 North Sixth street and sometimes at the Holland Hotel. Tony Russo, another brother, was shot to death in the gang feud some time ago in Chicago.

James ran over and killed a little girl, Kate Pizzolati, at Sixth street and Franklin avenue, in 1920, and fled from the scene. He was arrested and indicted for manslaughter in this case.

Griffin Shot Dec. 29. Griffin has been a mark for assassins' bullets before and has long been identified with the Italian gang feuds. He was one of the men indicted in the fatal shooting of Alphonse Palazzolo, at Tenth and Wash streets, last Sept. 9, and was sought by police when enemy gunmen discovered his retreat in a bungalow at Kirkwood and poured a fusillade into the house Dec. 29.

A few hours before, Vito Giannola, then leader of the Giannola gang of Italian terrorists, had been surprised in a house at 4559 Basile avenue and killed with bullets from a machine-gun and other firearms.

The attack on Griffin in Kirkwood appeared to be a quick reprisal. It occurred as St. Louis detectives were on their way to arrest him, having received information as to his whereabouts. He refused to tell who had shot him. He recovered, and the charges against him were dropped with the acquittal of the only man to be tried for the Palazzolo murder.

All Offense Arrested. Longo is listed in the police records as 23 years old. Since 1925 he had been arrested 23 times and fined once in Police Court for disturbance of the peace. He was reputed to be one of the sure-shots of the Russo faction and in underworld gossip is said to have been the slayer of Alphonse Palazzolo.

Russo, 29 years old, had been arrested 74 times in 10 years but never convicted of any crime. Griffin had been arrested about 60 times in three years.

Asks Police to Find Her Father. Police have been asked to search for Henry Forster, 66 years old, who disappeared from his home at 3987 Sarpy avenue about 4 p. m. last Sunday. His daughter, Miss Laura Forster, reported that her father suffered occasionally from amnesia.

OHIO MAN FOUND SLAIN BY HAMMER ON FLORIDA ROAD

Granddaughter of G. W. Simmons of Steubenville, O., and Her Husband Sought by Police.

HIS DAUGHTER AND HUSBAND SOUGHT

Small Sedan, Identified as That Used by Murdered Man and His Family, Is Seized.

By the Associated Press.

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 25.—G. W. Simmons, aged tourist of Steubenville, O., was killed here yesterday with a hammer. Columbia County authorities today were on the lookout for Simmons' granddaughter and her husband, who were seen with him last.

Sheriff W. B. Douglas piecing together fragments of stories brought in by his deputies turned up the Simmons' skull was crushed with a hammer during a struggle in a moving automobile on the outskirts of Lake City, and his body thrown into a clump of bushes by the roadside where it was found.

The Sheriff had information from Ohio that Mrs. Helen Booth, the granddaughter, recently was made beneficiary under Simmons' will, but was unable to say how wealthy the Ohio might have been.

Meanwhile Jacksonville police were holding an unclaimed automobile bearing stains and identified as a small sedan in which Mrs. Booth, her husband, E. L. Booth, and Simmons, left a Lake City tourist cottage late Monday night or early yesterday. Although police watched the car for several hours yesterday in the hope owners would return, none came and it was seized.

Slain Man Had "Considerable" Amount in Cash, Daughter Says. STEUBENVILLE, O., July 25.—Mrs. M. M. Newburn and Mrs. I. D. Buecy, daughters of G. W. Simmons, killed near Lake City, Fla., said their father had sold "a large amount of valuable real estate" before leaving two months ago for Florida with his granddaughter, Mrs. E. L. Booth and her husband.

Mrs. Newburn said she was unable to give the exact amount of money received but said it was "considerable." She said her father took the entire profits in cash. She said her father had made a will prior to leaving here, but was unable to say who was the beneficiary.

The granddaughter, who is 18 years old, said Mrs. Newburn was a favorite of Simmons. She was married to Booth a short time before starting for Florida, the trip being their honeymoon.

Walter A. Schneider, teller, was alone in the bank when the men walked in. The robbers fled in an automobile.

Steamboats Race on Ohio; Challenger Meets Defeat

Chris Greene, a Sidewheeler, Wins From Betsy Ann by Two Lengths on 20-Mile Course —Crowds Line River.

By the Associated Press.

NEW RICHMOND, O., July 25.—The Chris Greene, an Ohio River packet, defeated the Betsy Ann, its challenger, by two lengths in a 20-mile race of the Ohio yesterday.

The winning side-wheeler completed its course in two hours and 25 minutes, averaging approximately eight miles an hour. This was nearly five miles an hour less than the record set by the Robert E. Lee, when it raced the Natchez from New Orleans up the Mississippi to St. Louis in June, 1870.

The Chris Greene already has two challengers for races for the pair of gilded elk horns which the Betsy Ann, packet of the Elitzburg and Cincinnati Packet Co. had won in hard-fought battles on the Mississippi.

One is from the Tom Greene, flagship of the Greene line, and the other from Capt. M. O. Irvin, master of the Senator Cordill of Pittsburgh.

Crowds of cheering spectators greeted the racers as they pulled up here at dusk last night. The two steamers were belching clouds of black smoke from their twin funnels and their whistles were shrieking.

When the boats were brought to a stop, Frederick Way, president of the packet company, challenger of the Chris Greene, brought the elk horns aboard the rival and presented them to Capt. Chris Greene, who had commanded his own craft.

The contest followed a challenge by Way, after Greene boasted he could beat the Betsy Ann "any time." He made the boast when newspapers reported a victory of his boat over the Betsy Ann last week.

In making the challenge Way offered the gilded horns as a trophy for the victory.

The Betsy Ann was launched in 1915 and measures 170 feet by 25. She carried 150 passengers, while the Chris Greene, built in 1924 and measuring 180 feet by 42, carried 250.

Cincinnati newspapers said that the crowd which thronged the river banks was surpassed in reaction years only by that which turned out to greet the late President and Mrs. Harding when they went up the Ohio to Point Pleasant for the centennial celebration for Gen. U. S. Grant.

and fixed the valuation at $66,000. In the motion for a rehearing, the company argued for a valuation of $75,000,000, and the city in its motion asked for a valuation of $53,000,000. The company also attacked a ruling of the commission reducing its allowance for depreciation from $1,500,000 to $800,000.

Mrs. Slade Joins Hoover Force. WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Republican campaign to get out the vote of unorganized women throughout the country will be headed by Mrs. F. Louis Slade of New York, appointed today by Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, as official liaison officer between the women Hoover Volunteers and the organized women of the party. Mrs. Slade, a founder and former New York State president of the National League of Women Voters, has resigned all other activities to establish an office in New York.

Rockford-Sweden Fight Put Off. By the Associated Press. ROCKFORD, Ill., July 25.—The flight of the "Greater Rockford" to Stockholm, Sweden, which was to have started at 5 a. m. today was postponed until tomorrow morning because of an unfavorable weather forecast. Pilot Bert Hassell said that a United States Weather Bureau report, received after the big airplane had been fueled, indicated adverse headwinds would be encountered today throughout the Canadian portion of the flight.

MAJORITY OF 2700 FOR HAY EXPECTED IN GREENE COUNTY

Ardent Collet Supporters Concede Dry This Margin — Wilson-McCawley Race Is in Doubt.

BENNETT IS FAVORED AS G. O. P. NOMINEE

Patterson Has Edge on Proctor for Republican Senatorial Nomination—Stephens Shows Strength

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 25.—Greene County, in which is Springfield, the fourth city of Missouri, has a habit of voting for dry candidates, and indications this year are that the result will be no different from elections of recent years.

A Greene County victory for Charles M. Hay over James A. Collet for the Democratic senatorial nomination by at least 2700 as conceded here by Collet's most ardent supporters. On the governorship the result does not by any means seem so certain, and the active politicians, nearly all of whom are supporting Francis M. Wilson over State Senator A. L. McCawley, author of the Missouri tone-dry law, feel that Wilson will carry the county by a substantial majority which they figure at something in excess of 500.

However, the politicians may be mistaken. They were two years ago when Willis H. Meredith and Judge Ewing Cockrell opposed Senator Hawes for the nomination for the short and long terms, respectively, for United States Senator. Then virtually every active politician said and believed that Hawes would win Greene County by a heavy plurality. The result of the primary was that Meredith defeated Hawes in the county by nearly 200 and Cockrell defeated him by more than 400.

There was only one explanation and that was that Meredith and Cockrell were dry and Hawes was wet.

Result in Doubt.
In this campaign Wilson, of course, does not occupy the position of a wet candidate though he has the support of the St. Louis and Kansas City political organizations which are wet. McCawley is running as a pronounced dry.

It cannot be said with any degree of definiteness which of the two will command the greater strength here. On the surface Wilson appears to have the larger following, but those who look farther than the organized politicians and who have seen the big and less vociferous voter overcome the organization in other elections are inclined to consider the result doubtful.

Not all the active politicians here are for Wilson, there being a sprinkling of men who are considered somewhat influential in political work who are supporting McCawley. Wilson's long illness as a result of an abdominal operation several months ago has slowed down the Wilson campaign here as elsewhere, and it is more that the majority of the political workers are known to support him than that they are doing any active work in his behalf.

Bennett Is Popular.
Senator Reed's attack on Hay has had a noticeable effect here on the Wilson-McCawley race, this having been a strong anti-Reed county. Hay is popular here, while Wilson is looked upon as the Reed-Pendergast candidate, just as Collet, Reed's friend, is looked upon as the Reed-Pendergast candidate for Senator.

On the Republican side, this county can be classed as safely for Lieutenant-Governor Phil A. Bennett for the nomination for Governor. There is little likelihood that he will sweep the county by anything like the overwhelming plurality over Henry S. Caulfield that the Bennett managers have been asserting. However, it is Bennett's home county. He is rather popular and there should be no question of his success here.

Likewise, there should be little question that for Senator, Roscoe C. Patterson will carry the county. It is Patterson's home and he has active supporters. There is a factional fight on him here, which will work to the advantage of David M. Proctor. This opposition to Patterson, which dates back a number of years, is under the leadership of O. J. Page, majority floor leader of the Missouri House of Representatives, who recently withdrew as a candidate for Senator because of ill health.

Section Strong for Stephens.
Then, too, Proctor has a strong personal following in the county. Two years ago for Senator he received 3027 votes, running something more than 800 behind former Senator Williams. Proctor will make a good showing here, but, it is believed, hardly as good as he did against Williams.

The Republican contest for Secretary of State between Secretary of State Becker and State Treasurer Stephens is attracting probably more attention in Southwest Missouri than any other race. Stephens has an unusually active support through this part of the State and is likely to cause Becker much trouble.

COUNTY TO BUILD ROAD
IF AIRPORT BONDS PASS

Pledges $500,000 for Improvement If City Voters Sanction Field Project.

If St. Louis approves the $2,000,000 airport bond issue to be submitted to the voters on Aug. 7, St.
Louis County will spend approximately $500,000 on construction of a road from the airport to the city.
It was announced yesterday at a meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce at the American Hotel.
The road funds will be drawn from the county's recently approved $10,000,000 road bond issue and presumably will be spent on Natural Bridge road. W. W. Butts, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee of the chamber, said the road would be a 40-foot concrete highway.

Butts said his committee had also received the assurance of county authorities that other funds from the bond issue would be used to improve other highways leading to the flying field.

"This is St. Louis County's response to the city's plan to make Lambert-St. Louis Field an adequate airport," Butts said. "It indicates better than anything else that the county is solidly behind the action of the city."

"While we cannot vote at the election we can impress the voters with our willingness to do everything in our power to assist in the passage of the airport bond issue."

SUPPORTERS OF WIELANDY
MAKE TRIP TO KANSAS CITY

Travel in Two Special Cars to Boost His Candidacy for G. O. P.
Nomination for Governor.

A party of St. Louis supporters of Frank H. Wielandy, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, arrived in Kansas City in two special cars today for a campaign there in the interests of their candidate.

A street parade and a program of luncheons, meetings and conferences in Wielandy's interest were carded for the day. The delegation will return to St. Louis tomorrow morning.

Supporters of one of Wielandy's
opponents, Lieutenant-Governor Phil A. Bennett, met yesterday in his headquarters in the Title Guaranty Building. Following the meeting, State Senator William Marfit Bates, one of the Bennett managers, predicted his candidate would poll 40,000 votes in St.
Louis, predicting his guess on reports brought in by Bennett workers.

One of Bennett's active supporters is Nat Goldstein, former Circuit Clerk and Nineteenth Ward power. Following him in his advocacy of the Lieutenant-Governor's candidacy are Commissioner Harry Meyers of the Nineteenth, and Nick Polito of the Fourth.

GERMAN STUDENT FINDS RICH CLAIM NEAR DEATH VALLEY

Youth Said to Have Sold for $150,000, Holding Old-Time Miners Had Overlooked.

SHOSHONE, Cal., July 25.—
Henry von Pletka, a Heidelberg student, who arrived in this district a few months ago rating as a "tenderfoot" now is credited locally with knowing something about mining.

On a stretch of white clay which had been the camping ground of borax miners more than 40 years, the young German took up claims which are declared to have assayed a high content of lead. Old-time miners were amused at the German youth's belief he would find ore values in a flow of "white mud," but Montana mining interests have taken over the holdings at a reported price of $150,000.
The location is near Wingate Pass, in the Death Valley region, where half a century ago a furnace was operated and the community
teemed with miners and geologists.

Your Beautiful Promise

You remember how you felt when she said "yes"; how proud you were to be permitted to support and protect her. Maybe you said you would never let any harm come to her. And so far you have, no doubt, made good that beautiful promise.

But have you made her future safe? If she lost you, would she, in her loneliness, be protected as you want her to be?

May we not help you to extend your beautiful promise even beyond the end of your life.

Our "Program Folder" will give you a new idea. Send for it today.

SANDINO SAID TO BE NEAR HONDURAS LINE

Commander of U. S. Marines Doubts Insurgent Leader Will Disturb Elections.

By the Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 25.—Brigadier-General Logan Feland, commanding the United States marines, thinks that Gen. Sandino, the insurgent leader, is near the Honduras border with his field of operations small. He thinks there is small likelihood that the insurgents will be able to cause any further serious disturbance.

Threats that Sandino intends to conserve his forces until shortly before the national election on Nov. 4 and stage an outbreak to nullify the election are not taken seriously in marine quarters.

"Sometimes Sandino may cross into Honduras and then return to Nicaragua," Gen. Feland said, "but the scope of his operations is confined to a comparatively small area."

"The marines are patrolling the northern area and there is little chance that the rebels will be able to cause further serious disturbances. Patrols in both the east and west are tightening their grip, making it exceedingly difficult for Sandino and his followers to enter the populated districts. Of course, bands of lesser importance are still capable of causing trouble, but we are much encouraged over the voluntary surrender of nearly 600 rebels within a month of the vicinity of Somoto, Ocotal and other points in the northern area."

"A large percentage of the rebels now with Sandino are Hondurans and several small bands also contain Hondurans."

"The country may now be said to be tranquil, but there is always the possibility that the smaller bands may break through the patrol, causing some disturbance. Because of this possibility the patrolling continues active throughout the former disturbed area."

The last contact between ground troops and insurgents occurred on May 14 when a patrol of marines exchanged shots with them. This resulted in a few insurgent casualties.

The last air contact, which was only minor, occurred on July 6. The latest serious air contact was on June 12, when a plane dropped bombs on a band along the upper Doony River, killing a number of the insurgents.

At present there are nearly 6000 marines in Nicaragua. These are distributed at 54 different points. It is thought that this makes disturbances during the presidential election virtually impossible.

The threats that Sandino intends to conserve his forces for an outbreak shortly before the election are not being considered seriously by the marines or by the office of Brigadier-General Frank McCoy, supervisor of the election. In the opinion of the marines it will be difficult for Sandino or any other insurgent band to disturb any except the most remote of the settled districts.

SHIP PICKS UP MEN ADRIFF SIX DAYS OFF FLORIDA COAST

Speedboat of Two Fishermen Becomes Disabled and Current Carries Them Far Out to Sea.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 25.—Two men who went to sea for a fishing excursion off the Florida coast, only to drift helplessly six days when their craft became disabled, told the story of their mishap when the Panama Pacific steamer Manchuria, which rescued them last Sunday, 95 miles from St. Augustine, reached port.

Charles R. Stone and Aaron Cox, the latter a Negro, were the adventurers. Three hours after they set out from Lake Worth, Fla., with enough food to last three weeks, their speedboat's magnet failed. Stone labored with it 13 hours, and when he finally fixed it the boat had drifted far out to sea.

Within four miles of shore, the gasoline gave out and the craft sprang a leak. The men rigged sails from jumpers and canvas, but their emergency equipment could not counteract the current of the gulf stream.

Saturday night they made flares from the flooring of the boat and their clothes. No vessel answered their signal. They carefully apportioned their meager water supply. Sunday afternoon, two hours after their water had been exhausted, they sighted the Manchuria and coaxed their crippled craft toward its track.

Capt. James E. Roberts, master of the steamer, changed his course six miles and picked them up. Stone and Cox were put in the ship's hospital, but apparently had suffered few ill effects from their adventure.

RAILROAD AGENT BLAMED FOR DEATH OF YOUTH UNDER TRAIN

Burlington Detective Faces Manslaughter Charge for Accident at Ashland, Neb.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., July 25.—After an investigation of 10 days C. F. Galloway, Saunders County attorney, announced that a complaint charging manslaughter would be filed against Conrad Barth of Chicago, a Burlington & Quincy Railroad special agent, in connection with the death of Gordon Grigor of Cleveland.

When the Grigor youth, who was stealing a ride to Denver, was killed under freight train wheels at Ashland, Neb., an inquest was called which held Barth responsible for the death.

BALFOUR HONORED ON HIS 80TH BIRTHDAY

Prince of Wales, at Party, Pays Compliments to Veteran Statesman.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 25. — Great Britain celebrated today the eightieth birthday of the Earl of Balfour.

Lord Balfour's public service goes back 54 years for he entered the House of Commons in 1874 and he is one of the few great survivors of the Victorian era. The only other statesman of outstanding eminence in the period alive today is the Earl of Rosebery. He has been out of politics for 20 years and is an invalid.

Earl Balfour is a member of the Cabinet today, being Lord President of Council. Notwithstanding the throat affection which forced him to his bed last winter and spring, he is again normally active. When he attended the luncheon yesterday to celebrate the opening of the new quarters of the British Academy, of which he is president, he walked through the streets to the affair rather than ride and swung along briskly with an energy which many younger men might envy.

His recent illness necessitated a rest from his usual physical activities, including tennis, of which he was a devoted player, but the Daily Mail quoted him today as saying that he intends to take up tennis again shortly.

"I am feeling pretty well," he said. "My throat has not quite recovered but it is only a matter of time."

It seems unlikely that he will resume golf, of which he also played a good deal, for he said: "Tennis is not like golf. If you play golf you must do a round and that means two hours' walking, but you can knock off tennis when you like."

The luncheon yesterday was partly in honor of the aged statesman's birthday and the Prince of Wales, who is an intimate friend of Earl Balfour, and paid him graceful compliments, to which Lord Balfour responded with a lively speech.

After proposing Earl Balfour's health, the Prince of Wales said: "Lord Balfour was a Cabinet minister eight years before I was born. For well over half a century he has maintained his golf handicap at a lower level than mine is likely to touch for some time to come. These two considerations alone would make it imperative for me to try and give you an estimate of his career."

As a tribute in appreciation of his services to the State and as evidence of their personal esteem, his friends in the House of Lords and Commons are presenting Earl Balfour with an expensive motor car as a birthday gift.

NEW CLEANING PROCESS LEAVES NO RING

Trump Kit Makes Expert Cleaning for Every Man, Woman or Child, Safe and Easy

The universal objection to removing spots at home has been conquered. The TRUMP Kit provides scientific ingredients that remove all spots. The TRUMP Cleaning Manual gives free, gives full and complete information telling how to remove over 100 different kinds of spots, how to avoid rings, and enables every housewife to become an expert spot remover.

No one substance will remove all spots. Rex Research Chemists have developed five solvents that will remove all spots and stains (aniline dye excepted). These are packed in a handy metal kit beautifully lithographed in blue and silver.

Every man and woman has use for TRUMP. It removes stains of fruit, rust, scorch, perspiration, grass, grease spots, food spots—in fact nearly every spot known.

TRUMP comes at an opportune time. TRUMP will not burn or explode. A nation-wide movement is on foot against the use of flammable substances such as gasoline for home cleaning. No one would allow a stick of dynamite around the home. Yet one authority says that gasoline and other flammable cleaners have stored up explosive energy—"ten times that of dynamite."

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN DEATH OF MAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO

J. F. Comer, 65, Stepped in Front of Truck From Behind Parked Car Near His Home.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of John Frank Comer, 65 years old, a Christian Science practitioner, who was killed when struck by an automobile as he was crossing the street in front of his home, 4181 Washington boulevard, yesterday afternoon.

The driver of the car, George W. Hensley, salesman, 4566 Washington, did not testify. After the verdict releasing him was read, he conferred with James A. Comer, attorney, brother of the dead man, of Little Rock, Ark., and both men wept.

Witnesses testified that Hensley applied his brakes and made an attempt to avoid striking Comer, who had stepped from in front of a parked automobile.

There have been 88 automobile fatalities this year as compared with 71 for a similar period last year.

Antonio Cerutti, 38 years old, 901 Chouteau avenue, died in a hospital at Litchfield, Ill., last night of injuries suffered when an automobile in which he was riding upset near Gillespie, Ill. He was accompanied at the time of the accident by Thomas Montgomery, also of St. Louis, who was not seriously injured. Coroner's verdict of accident was returned.

Charles Schiowitz, 252 East Big Bend road, Webster Groves, suffered a fractured skull when struck by an automobile driven by William Karbelnik, Mount Olive, Ill., at Lafayette and Mississippi avenues, yesterday afternoon.

Inquest to Be Held in Death of Girl Who Leaped From Auto.

An inquest into the death of Sarah G. Davis, 15-year-old Negro girl of Lebanon, Ill., who was injured fatally Monday night when she jumped from an automobile in which she and two girl friends had accepted a ride from three youths they did not know, will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at Lebanon.

The girl died Tuesday morning on the way to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville. She suffered a fractured skull when she leaped from the auto.

JUDGE BECK ANSWERS WOMAN VOTERS' QUESTIONNAIRE

Asks What Organization Will Do to Prevent Courts from Becoming "Bargain Counters."

In reply to a questionnaire from the League of Women Voters, Police Judge Beck, Republican candidate for nomination for Circuit Judge, has written a letter asserting the prevalence of "fixing" cases in the courts is a menace to American youth, and asks the league this question:

"What is the League of Women Voters going to do in a practical way to induce judges of all courts to adopt and adhere to the court policy which renders it impossible for judges to use courts for political bargain counters, like that in vogue in Canada and England, which policy forbids judges to discuss cases or listen to any discussion of cases clandestinely in chambers or anywhere except in open court, where all parties in interest, and witnesses are present, and where the judge's decision is based solely upon the law and evidence, totally uninfluenced by political, social or other considerations?"

The letter has been printed as an advance copy of an article in a political magazine, with a headline describing Judge Beck as a "prominent jurist."

REMUS OBTAINS DELAY Deportation Hearing Put Over Until Oct. 1.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Labor Department today granted George Remus an extension until Oct. 1 to produce proof that he is a citizen of the United States and not subject to deportation as an undesirable alien. Remus, former "bootleg king," acquitted of wife murder in Cincinnati, appeared before the Board of Inquiry and said that because of his recent difficulties he had been unable to produce certain records to establish his citizenship. The records show that Remus was born in Germany and was brought to this country by his parents while an infant. Doubt exists whether his father was naturalized in Chicago and it was upon this ground that the department sought to deport him.

ESTONIANS CRY FOR ORANGES

Long Queues Form at Stores When Fruit Is Admitted.

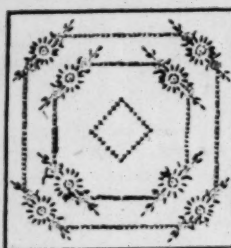

TALLIN, Estonia, July 25.—The capital of Estonia is in the grip of a craze for oranges. Owing to a prohibitive duty on foreign fruit, Estonians had not tasted oranges for years. This duty was repealed recently, and oranges made a reappearance on the market.

People began to eat them today and night, and in a few days 1-500,000 oranges had been sold. Clamorous crowds formed queues at fruit dealers who frantically telegraphed abroad for further supplies. A cargo of 2,000,000 was rushed from Hamburg.

Suspends Fare Increase.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 25.—Advanced street car and motor bus rates, sought by the Illinois Power & Light Corporation for 11 Illinois cities, were suspended until Nov. 24, by order of the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday. Cities concerned are Jacksonville, South Jacksonville, Champaign, Urbana and Decatur.

WOMEN PLAN TO GET OUT THE HOMEMAKERS

G. O. P. Group Will Urge Housekeepers to Cast
Votes for Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Mobilization for Hoover and Curtis of the 24,000,000 women who usually do not vote will be the special object of the Republican women's campaign.

At a women's organization meeting here yesterday plans were made to concentrate on the woman in the home. National committeewomen from 18 states of the East and South made enthusiastic reports of campaigns already begun.

After short addresses by Hubert Work, chairman, Franklin W. Fort, secretary, and J. Francis Burke, counsel of the national committee, emphasizing the belief that "women of this year will play a greater part in Republican politics than ever before" Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the National Committee, announced the mobilization plan.

"Fifty per cent of women are eligible to vote but do not go near the polls," she said. "Home-making is the basis of our family life, the background of all our political relations."

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE SAYS
SMITH CAN'T BE ELECTED

Emporia Editor Asserts He Has No
More Use for Mellon Than for Late Charles F. Murphy.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Characterizing Gov. Smith as a fine man who never will be elected, deploring the attitude of Coolidge and Mellon toward prohibition and criticizing the apathy of Hoover toward the oil scandals, William Allen White, editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, gave his views in an interview published in the Brooklyn Eagle.

"Al Smith is a fine man. I know him personally," the newspaper quotes White as saying. "He would make a fine President, but he never will be elected."

Of Coolidge, the Emporia editor is quoted as asserting: "We need a crusader on this prohibition question, and the little fellow in the White House is not a crusader by any means. Prohibition hasn't been given a chance."

White is quoted as attacking Smith for his Tammany connections and for his laudatory remarks on the late Charles F. Murphy, former Tammany leader.

When asked about the reported connection of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon with distilleries, the Emporia editor is quoted as saying:

"I have no more use for Mellon than I have for Murphy. The only difference between the two is that Murphy is dead."

Discussing the oil scandals, White is quoted as attributing Hoover's silence on the question to his failure to know what was going on.

"Then, too, I suppose he felt if he spoke out it would have cost him his Cabinet post. He probably believed his services as a Cabinet officer was more important to the country than speaking out on the oil scandals."

MRS. SCRIPPS LOSES SUIT
FOR $6,000,000 FROM ESTATE

Widow of Publisher's Son Sought
Accounting for Amount She Said
Was Due Her Husband.

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., July 25.—Mrs. Josephine Scripps of Miramar, Cal., widow of James G. Scripps, today lost her suit for an accounting from the estate of the late E. W. Scripps, publisher, and from the E. W. Scripps Publishing Co.

Judge Smith Hickenloper in United States District Court dismissed the suit for want of equity.

Mrs. Scripps alleged that more than $6,000,000 was due her husband's estate as profits from the Scripps newspapers while her husband was associated with the father in their operation.

Robert Scripps contended that an increment plan by which his father compensated his sons for their work in connection with the Scripps chain of newspapers did not constitute a partnership agreement, and that James Scripps forfeited his right to share in the increment plan when he severed relations with his father.

Judiciary Candidate Indorsed.
Robert L. Sutton of Troy, commissioner of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for judge of that court, was indorsed yesterday by vote of the Marion County Bar Association, meeting in Hannibal.

FLOOD CONTROL BOARD FINISHES FIELD WORK

Progress Made in Reconciling Commission and Army Plans, Gen. Jackson Says.

The Mississippi Flood Control Board has completed its field work and adjourned subject to the call of the president, Brigadier-General Thomas H. Jackson, head of the Mississippi River Commission, announced yesterday upon his return from a five-day session concluding the board's study of the lower river, which began June 19.

"Many decisions have been made," said Gen. Jackson. "The board's progress in reconciling the engineering differences between the commission's and the Army engineers' plans of flood control is satisfactory."

"New reports from affected communities have come in within the last few days, however, and others still are to be submitted. These will be scrutinized by our staff of technical consultants, and every point that is new will receive thorough consideration by the board."

The board in its five-week inspection traveled by river mostly at night, and the heat on which they rode from St. Louis to New Orleans and back to Cairo was made their headquarters simply because it was a good place to work. Usually the three members drove from 100 to 200 miles a day over affected hinterland, setting out at daylight and returning, travel-stained and weary, in time for a shower bath and dinner, and after that to pore over charts and maps and reports and petitions frequently until midnight.

Gen. Jackson, who was called to St. Louis for a few days on business of the commission, rejoined the other members of the board, Captain W. Stewart of New York and Major-General Edgar Jadwin, Chief of Engineers and president of the board, last Thursday at Memphis.

In five days and nights of conferences they thrashed out, to a considerable extent, the points of conflict above Memphis, made several side trips of inspection and made an exhaustive study of two suggestions for protecting New Madrid, Mo., before they adjourned and disembarked at Cairo.

As has been previously told in the Post-Dispatch, the commission suggests for the protection of Cairo only higher levees or raising the city itself. The Army engineers, contending that Cairo levees have reached the limit, propose a 70-mile floodway five miles wide along the west bank of the river, to empty back into the main stream directly above New Madrid. Although the engineers reported that strengthened levees would protect that town, its citizens have urged that all additional safeguards be provided.

New Madrid is situated at the apex of a horseshoe bend. Suggestions were to remove the Tip-tonville dike, which keeps the river from cutting through a low place on the bend above New Madrid, to make a four-mile artificial cutoff across the neck of the bend, or to divert flood waters through Reelfoot Lake, and the Ohio River Valley on the east side of the Mississippi, all as means of lowering flood heights at New Madrid.

The board drove over the ground and found, Gen. Jackson said, that the natural facilities for a large diversion by Reelfoot Lake had been greatly exaggerated.

Earlier discussions have shown that the engineers approach cutting off a river by the least, the greatest wariness, cut-off, reducing the distance, increase the velocity of the current. The banks can hold only a certain velocity, and so, the engineers have cited from past experience, a new bend is likely to be formed below and a new problem created.

BUTCHER SUES FOR $100,000 IN ROW OVER KOSHER MEAT

Abe Multin Sues Members of Dietary Law Society Forced Him to Close Shop.

Eleven members of the Waad Hakashruth, a society organized to maintain observance of dietary laws in accordance with orthodox Jewish custom, were sued in Circuit Court yesterday for $100,000 by Abe Multin, a butcher.

He alleges he was forced to close his kosher meat market as a result of false statements printed and circulated at the instance of defendants, to the effect that he handled meat which was not strictly kosher. Multin, his petition sets forth, later went to work in another kosher market and continued there until he was discharged because the defendants threatened to boycott Multin's employer if he was permitted to remain.

Defendants in the suit are Nathan Olschansky, 5249 Maple avenue, president; Jacob Melman, 2518 Bard avenue, vice president; Zelig Yawitz, 4721 McMillan avenue, secretary; Peter Stein, 1157 Aubert avenue, secretary, and the following members: Rabbis Sam Kishansky, R. Finkelstein, Louis Fischer, I. Funk and Julius Raska and I. M. Margulies, 6239 Pershing avenue and J. A. Olan, 4861 Wabada place.

An officer of the society told a reporter today there was no foundation for the suit.

To Restore Jackson County Levees. NEWPORT, Ark., July 25.—Gov. Bennett engineers sent to Jackson County to survey the Stephens, Bateman and Jacksonport levees, washed out in many places by the 1927 flood, have completed their work and returned to Memphis. The levees will be restored, it is said.

PAID $250 FOR A MURDER

Man Says He Acted for Victim's Wife Who Wanted Insurance.

BASTROP, Tex., July 25.—Turning against the woman with whom he admitted having conspired to kill her husband, Hugo Middleton, a blacksmith, testified here yesterday he had paid Joe Morales, a Mexican, $250, to murder W. W. Waybourne, a retired railroad man of Smithville, Tex., who was beaten to death at his home last March. Middleton's life was insured for $12,000.

Mrs. Rosie Waybourne, 48-year-old widow of the slain man, on trial for complicity in the murder, wept during Middleton's testimony. Middleton said Mrs. Waybourne asked him to have her husband killed "because she did not love him, did not want to live with him and because he carried a lot of insurance."

BANK RESOURCES

IN U. S. NEARLY SEVENTY BILLIONS

Total Deposits, Feb. 28, of

State and National $56,-

714,516,861 Association's Report Shows.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Total resources of all national and State banks in the United States are approximately $70,000,000,000 as disclosed in the annual report of R. N. Sims, Secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks. The report was submitted for a convention today at Coney Island.

On Feb. 28, last, there were 26,699 banks of which 13,965 were state and 12,734 national. Total deposits were $56,714,516,861; total capital surplus and undivided profits, $3,165,241,004; total resources, $69,439,471,224.

Total deposits were $1,140,582,287 above the previous high record of March 23, 1927, and total resources had increased $3,693,622,613 since that date. Since 1919, when Sims made his first complete report, deposits showed an increase of 51 per cent, resources, 48 per cent, capital, surplus and undivided profits, 55 per cent. In the nine-year period, however, the total number of banks had decreased 2114 of which 2063 were state banks and 51 national.

On Feb. 28, deposits in state banks were 54 per cent an excess of the deposits of the national banks, resources of the state banks 51 per cent and capital surplus and undivided profits 38 per cent in excess of that of the national.

Mr. Sims, who is vice president of the Hibernia Bank & Trust Co. of New Orleans and formerly was Bank Commissioner of Louisiana, said the figures reflect a whole, a healthy condition of the banks of the country.

GENERAL MOTORS INSURES

ITS 200,000 EMPLOYEES

Policy for Nearly $400,000,000 Covers

Accident, Sickness and

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—More than 200,000 employees of the General Motors Corporation have been made participants in what was described as the largest group insurance policy ever issued.

The policy, for nearly $400,000,000, was issued by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and covers death, sickness and accident. The life insurance involved was said to be more than double the face of the largest previous policy, while the sickness and accident benefits aggregate more than two and a half times any former record.

The plan is co-operative, but the General Motors assumes a substantial part of the premium.

STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA

Head of Directors Reported to

Have Thus Thwarted Rockefeller's

Attempt to Oust Him.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The New York World says Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, has checked the efforts of John D. Rockefeller Jr. to force him from the leadership of the $500,000,000 corporation.

According to unimpeachable informants, says the World, Stewart has controlled 51 per cent of the stock of the corporation which he now controls by ownership or proxy.

Demands that Stewart resign were made by Rockefeller after Stewart refused to testify before the Senate Teapot Dome Investigating Committee.

SUES FOR $1000 INSURANCE

Negro Charges Company Refuses to Pay Policy on Husband.

Mrs. Louise Gates, of Brooklyn, a Negro, filed suit in Belleville Circuit Court yesterday against the Continental Casualty Co. of Hammond, Ind., to collect $1000 insurance on a policy held by her husband, Alexander Gates, who was shot and killed at Brooklyn last Jan. 26 by William Smoot. Smoot now is in Chester Penitentiary.

Mrs. Gates states she gave proof of death within 90 days, and that all the premiums on the policy were paid, but that the insurance company has refused to pay.

GANGSTERS MURDER MAN, 75

Pittsburgh Produce Merchant Slain

In Front of His Home.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25.—The twenty-fifth killing this year for which police hold gangster and blackhand funds responsible, occurred last night when Nicholas Landolinos, 75 years old, a produce merchant, was shot to death by four men as he watered a flower garden in front of his home. The gunman drove past the house in an automobile and opened fire with shotguns.

Police said a revolver which Landolinos had drawn to protect himself was shot from his hand.

Three Killed in Troop Train Wreck.

BILL TILDEN REINSTATED
AS MEMBER OF U. S. TEAM

PARIS, July 25.—Announcement of the reinstatement of William T. Tilden as a member of the American Davis Cup team and the fact that he will play in the challenge round against France, was made today at the headquarters of the American team, following the return of President Samuel H. Collow of the United States Lawn Tennis Association from London. Collow issued the following statement:

"In response to the most urgent requests of the French Lawn Tennis Federation that we should not deprive French tennis lovers of their opportunity of seeing one of the greatest players in the world in competition, I have decided to assume the responsibility of authorizing Mr. Wear to play Tilden on the Davis Cup team."

Tilden was dropped from the team last week for violation of the rule forbidding writing of articles about tournaments in which he was a player.

Collow, communicating his decision, said the United States Lawn Tennis Association at New York as follows:

"French misunderstood our position and have brought pressure to bear on our Ambassador, who sits from the standpoint of international relations. It is important to accede to their request."

"Considering it to the best interest of our association I have issued the following which I trust meets with your approval."

Tunney Finishes His Ring Work

CHAMPION GENE TUNNEY.
Resting at the conclusion of his final boxing workout at his Speculator, N. Y., camp, prior to his championship bout with Tom Heeney, Thursday night.

Title Bout Will Be A Real Fight, Not a Footrace, Wray Writes

By John E. Wray
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—There will be a fight at Yankee Stadium tomorrow night, not a hit-and-run play. We have this on the word of no less an authority than James Bronson, sometime of Joplin, Mo., laore recently of New York—a man who was chief adviser to Tunney in his two title fights, and who refereed some of his matches when Gene was just beginning as a boxer, as a member of the A. E. F. in France. Bronson was with Tunney in three training camps, including the present preparation for Heeney, and will be in his corner tomorrow, as chief strategist.

"You can say for me," Bronson told the writer yesterday, "and I will guarantee the statement that Tunney is going to conduct his fight so as to knock out Heeney. This is his hope and his goal in the coming contest. Both he and I will be disappointed deeply if we are not anticipating failure."

"Since I have been with Tunney he has never approached his present fitness, both in condition and boxing skill. That also goes for his hitting. I think Heeney is made to order for Gene, in his style of fighting. We are not laying down any battle plan, but I repeat the statement that the champion's purpose is to knock out Heeney."

This announcement will be welcome news to fans who, knowing Tunney's safety-first style of fighting, had feared that the bout would reveal a champion constantly going away from a challenger constantly on the aggressive. While Bronson's statement does not guarantee that Tunney will stand toe to toe and trade punches with the mighty blacksmith—or was it a plumber the publicity man called him?—it does mean that at some stage of the affair Tunney expects to step out and make a fight of it

ENEMY SCORES 8 RUNS IN INNING; HERMAN TRIPLES WITH 3 ON

By Herman Wecke.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

BROOKLYN, July 25.—The Robins evened the series by beating the Cards in the second game of the series here this afternoon. The score was 8 to 1.

The attendance was estimated at 4000. Magee, Moran and Reardon were the umpires.

THE GAME:
FIRST INNING—CARDINALS —Douthitt walked. Holm hit into a double play, Hendrick to Flowers to Bissonette. Flowers made a nice stop and threw out High.

BROOKLYN—Maranville threw out Carey. Hendrick tapped to Reinhart. Herman fled to Harper. Wilson c.....2 0 0 1 0 0

SECOND INNING—BROOKLYN —Bottonley walked. Flowers went into center for a great catch of Hafey's pop fly and Bottonley was doubled off first. Flowers to Bissonette. Harper walked. Harper was out stealing. Deberry to Flowers.

BROOKLYN—Bressler rolled to Maranville. Bissonette walked. Flowers fled to Douthitt. Bancroft singled to center. Bissonette stopping at second. Deberry fled to Douthitt.

THIRD INNING—CARDINALS —Wilson popped to Bancroft. Maranville fled to Herman. Elliott tossed out Reinhart.

BROOKLYN —Elliott fled to Hafey. Carey singled to center. Hendrick fled to Hafey. Carey went to second on a passed ball. Herman fouled to Wilson.

FOURTH INNING—CARDINALS —Douthitt lined to Carey. Holm also fled to Carey. Flowers threw out High.

BROOKLYN—Bressler fled to Douthitt. Bissonette again walked. Flowers singled to right. Bissonette going to third. High went into right field for Bancroft's pop fly. Bissonette scoring on High's wild throw to the plate. Flowers reached third. Deberry singled to center, scoring Flowers. Elliott safe on High's fumble. Deberry reaching third. Carey singled to left. Deberry scoring. Hendrick walked, filling the bases.

FIFTH INNING—CARDINALS —Bisette was out trying for second. Harper to Maranville. EIGHT RUNS.

SIXTH INNING—BROOKLYN —Bottonley beat out a slow roller to Flowers. Hafey fled to Carey. Harper fouled to Bissonette. Wilson fled to Bressler.

BROOKLYN—Smith went in to catch for the Cardinals. Flowers fled to Harper. Bancroft doubled to left center. Deberry struck out. Elliott also struck out.

SIXTH INNING—MARANVILLE —singled to right and took second on Herman's fumble. Elliott tossed out Frankhouse. Maranville holding second base. Bancroft threw out Douthitt, holding Maranville on second. Holm rolled to Flowers.

U. S. OLYMPIC SQUAD SHIFTS TRAINING CAMP TO THE HAGUE, TODAY

WITHDRAWAL OF NURMI AND WIDE ENHANCES HAHN'S CHANCES

By ALAN J. GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

AMSTERDAM, July 25.—A squad of 22 Americans led by Charley Paddock and Lloyd Hahn forsook Amsterdam this morning and journeyed to The Hague for a workout. All the hurdlers, high jumpers and 400-meter men in addition to the two stars and three coaches—Tom Kenne, Harry Hillman and Jack Ryder—made the trip, returning late in the afternoon after the best workout yet.

With the Americans absent the chief attraction at the practice fields near the Olympic Stadium proved to be the Finns who arrived with the famous runners, Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola. Coaches confirmed the fact that Willie and Paavo are slated to team up in three events—the 1000 and 10,000 meter runs and the steeplechase.

Marathoners Work Out.
The American marathoners, with Whitey Michelson and Jimmy Henigan setting a surprising pace, went over the route this morning, running from seven to 22 miles according to their own tastes. Joie Ray declared the flat course is ideally suited to his style, but Clarence Demar, who prefers hills, discovered enough rough going and cobblestones to get a satisfied grin.

The American relay teams are virtually decided upon, according to Head Coach Lawson Robertson. The 1600-meter team will be composed as picked after the final tryouts at Philadelphia while Frank Wykoff, Henry Russell and Jimmy Quinn make up the 400-meter relay quartet.

The other member will be chosen from among Claude Bracey, Charley Borah and Jackson Scholz, Quinn, the Holy Cross flyer, who is not entered in either of the individual sprints, has been made captain of the relay outfit.

Boxers Are Busy.
Workouts for the boxing team members today were featured by a strenuous battle for first place in the heavyweight division between Royal Elliott of Del Monte, Cal., the national amateur champion, and Alex Kaletchitz, who was chosen to make the trip after George Hoffman. The alternate turned professional to fight on the Tunney-Henney card. The two proved evenly matched and Coach

Hahn's Chances Brighter.

Day by day, the chances of Lloyd Hahn scoring an Olympic double victory in the 800 and 1500 meter runs, duplicating Mel Shepard's feat of 20 years ago, appear to be brightening. The "Boston Express" who has been given almost exclusive attention by Coach Jack Ryder along the lines of his own individual training program, not only is impressing the experts as fully up to his home form but his expected opposition no longer appears as formidable as formerly.

The latest developments indicate that both Paavo Nurmi, 1924 winner, and Edwin Wide, Swedish schoolmaster, have been declared out of the 1500 meters test where these two figured to form Hahn's chief opposition. This lessening of the Scandinavian threat follows the failure of Dr. Otto Peltzer, German champion to recover from a leg injury, thus apparently removing another double threat from the American's path.

As a result, Hahn's chief opposition in the middle distance tests loom from Great Britain and France. The British threat is Douglas Lowe, 800 meter champion in 1924, who is bringing his own brands of wine for the Amsterdam training table. From France comes Seraphin Martin, who turned in an 800 meters in the spectacular time of 1:50.2-5 in the Paris trials.

WESTERN AND CENTURY CREWS LEAVE TONIGHT FOR CULVER REGATTA

Two St. Louis aggregations, representing the Century and Western Rowing Clubs, will leave tonight to participate in the Central States regatta which will be held at Culver, Ind., Friday and Saturday. Members of the two clubs are entered in every event on the program except the lightweight eight-oared shell.

Western's crews have shown considerable power this season. This club won the recent municipal regatta at Creve Coeur and stands a better chance of taking titular honors at Culver than Century. Western has four more boats entered than Century.

ATHLETE TRAVELS 6000 MILES TO AMSTERDAM, FINDS ENTRIES CLOSED

By the Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, July 25.—An Olympic trip of 6000 miles turned out in vain for a 19-year-old Los Angeles boy, Basil McDonald, National A. A. U. champion weightlifter, who arrived yesterday only to find the entries closed and his name absent from the competitive list.

McDonald, whose trip was sponsored by a Los Angeles gymnasium, hoped to enter the middleweight class and understood the official details were attended to but American authorities say they were not advised. An attempt to file a post-entry yesterday failed and America will not be represented at all in this feature of the Olympics, which starts this Saturday.

McDonald arrived by way of Rotterdam aboard the steamer Volendam, which also brought a contingent of New York A. C. athletes, including Weems Baskin, hurdler, Roland Locke, sprinter, Pat Ekins, decathlon star, and Norton Jackson, wrestler, all of whom failed to make the teams. The party was headed by William Kennedy, president.

John Henry Mears thinks his around-the-world trip will speed up travel. We quite agree with John Henry. When it takes 22 days, 25 hours, 31 minutes and three seconds to go around the world we pause to inquire what delayed him?

This slow-motion traveling is irksome and takes us back to the stage coach days. Something ought to be done about it.

Javelin Record Falls Fourth Time In Recent Weeks
By the Associated Press.
JOENKOEPPING, Sweden, July 25.

LUNNAR LINDSTROM, Swedish javelin thrower, beat his own official world's record in a pre-Olympic track and field meet here by tossing the spear 67.77 meters (222 feet 4 1/2 inches).

The listed record is 66.62 meters (218 feet, 6 1/2 inches) made by Lindstrom in Sweden in 1924.

Lindstrom's throw was more than 222 feet was the fourth performance reported in recent weeks which surpassed his recognized world mark. It is about four inches short of a throw of 222 feet, 9 inches, made on July 7 by S. A. Lay of Australia at Stamford Bridge, England, but is better than the throw of 220 feet, 11 7/8 inches made on June 6 by Penttila of Finland. It also beats the mark of 219 feet, 9 inches, made by Lindstrom's countryman, Lundquist, in the Swedish Olympic tryouts.

U. S. Athletes Have Already Won Eating Championship

AMSTERDAM, Holland, July 25.—American mothers who have trouble keeping healthy youngsters from being hungry will sympathize with Chief Steward Charles Heidorn of the President Roosevelt, who is responsible for the feeding of nearly 300 American Olympic girls and youths on the liner which is moored snugly in an inlet of the Zuyder Zee here.

Heidorn provides real American meals for the athletes from the United States. He was faced with the major crisis of his career yesterday—one that any mother knows—when the President Roosevelt experienced an ice cream famine. A chewing gum crisis occurred only a few days out of New York but didn't prove nearly as serious as the present one.

Heidorn spent a frantic day finding a new source of supply and he finally contracted with an Amsterdam caterer to meet the Roosevelt's ice cream needs if it takes a ton daily. This morning he was as relieved as a quartermaster general who has found an inexhaustible food supply for his army.

Ate 550 Steaks at One Meal.
"I've been at sea for 25 years and never have seen such appetites," declared the chief steward, as he tallied up 640 portions of ice cream and 550 steaks served at one dinner.

There is only the team abroad. Figure it out for yourself. Some of our fellows certainly are repeaters.

Since the arrival of the President Roosevelt at Amsterdam the Olympians have consumed several tons of fresh vegetables; 400 pounds of butter; 150 dozen eggs besides a large quantity of fish and fruit. Every morning the supply barge pulls alongside the liner from Rotterdam, the produce center of Holland, and to come up to the American standards, the food must be of the freshest.

The first day the Roosevelt went marketing Heidorn and his chief chef sent the barge back with more than half of the stuff it brought. Such an incident hasn't occurred since.

Olympic coaches think the teams' fate rests in their hands but Heidorn and his staff know that the athletes, like Napoleon's army, fight on their stomachs and has figures to prove it.

Some of these boys eat ice cream four times a day," he said. "A few actually ordered it for breakfast before the Olympic Committee called a halt."

Some Titles Already Won.
The actual Olympic competitions don't begin until Sunday, but as far as the President Roosevelt's commissary is concerned the ice cream eating contest, the running broad jump at two-pound steaks, and the dietetic deceptions have been on ever since the liner left New York.

Heidorn has heard that the Finnish athletes train on a diet of black bread and fish.

"What a cinch the steward of that outfit has," he said.

The Americans start the day with a slight breakfast of fruit, two and sometimes three bowls of oatmeal, with cream, and bacon, and eggs and toast. Some take coffee, many milk.

After a stiff morning's workout, the athletes return to the ship for a simple luncheon of fruit, salad, cold sliced meats, tomatoes, baked potatoes, fresh vegetables, ice cream, iced tea, milk and white bread.

Then some more workouts and the real meal of the day in the evening when 12 courses appear on the menu.

An outline of each day's menu is supplied to the ship's commissary by dietitians aboard.

RESIDENTS OF SLOVEN MUST HAVE TICKETS TO ENTER OWN HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

SLOVEN, Holland, July 25.—The villagers here who since the arrival of the first Olympic crew have been basking in the sunshine find they must pay the price of a place in the limelight.

They were informed yesterday by the Government that the large main street running alongside the Sloven Canal will be closed to all traffic during the coming week.

These Dutch rustics, who have their independence, do not mind the idea of needing tickets to enter their own homes and there is much discussion of the subject at the village general meetings and proudly told the Associated Press his elder son was born in Sheboygan, Wis.

Mimic Good Golfer, Then Take Lessons—Farrell

By Johnny Farrell,
(As Told to a Representative of the Post-Dispatch.)
Let us pursue the subject of the imitated golf swing a little further today.

The beginner who relies solely on instruction for his golf education advances only by the slowest degrees. Sometimes he doesn't advance at all. If he has an active mentality the chances are that his game never will grow robust but will ever be a pallid, peaked thing.

It is hardly possible for a player to attend to several things at once mentally, and still be able to concentrate on the business of smiting an immobile object successfully.
Thousands of golfers have shown that it cannot be done effectively.
Please don't mistake me. I do not mean to under-
rate the importance of intelligent golf instruction. The best of us have had to have it. What I want to stress is the necessity of acquiring a conception of the golf swing by imitation before having it polished by instruction.

The player who has learned to swing through imitation thinks only of hitting the ball. He is not concerned with the position of his knees or his elbows or the part in his hair. He falls into his stance like a babe falling out of its cradle —easily and unconsciously. He has seen his model in action and he follows naturally his method of doing things.

The Instinct of Mimic.
Of course the ability to mimic
is stronger in some than in others.
Adults lose much of their aptitude for mimicry that was strongly present in their youth. However, it hasn't left them altogether which is proved by the fact that the great majority of golfers have cultivated a fairly good golf swing through apishness without knowing it.

Watch any player of the so-called duffer class and his practice swing will be infinitely smoother and more in accordance with form than his swing at the ball. Watch any of these players cut down a daisy or a dandelion. They never miss. They are as deadly in this regard as a mowing machine! They swing with a rhythm and an abandonment that carries them through to the finish without any of the awkwardness that is present when they are trying to "kill" the little pill. Why the difference?
Question of Relaxing.

Well, when they swing at a daisy or a dandelion, these players don't MEAN it, but when they go after the pellet, they do. The difference is that they relax when they don't mean it and become rigid when they do. If they would but swing at the ball in the same effortless manner they use on their daisies and dandelions, golf in this country would improve immeasurably.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Jack Berg,
English lightweight, will meet Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., tomorrow night for the right to battle Sammy Mandell for the title. Promoter James Mullen has signed Mandell for a September bout against the winner of tomorrow night's scrap.
Berg, victor in his first three starts in Chicago, will face what many believe to be the toughest assignment in his American campaign when he meets Petrolle, who is far more experienced than Pedro

Amador, Freddie Mueller or Mike Waters, Berg's first victims. Although the English contender for Mandell's crown is a 6 to 5 favorite on many bets, Petrolle's backers claim Berg will have to go the limit to prevent the Fargo fighter from getting through his defense.

Jack Hurley, Petrolle's manager, announced today he had matched the Fargo scrapper with the winner of the McLarnin-Loayza fight in Detroit, Sept. 13. Petrolle has been guaranteed $15,000 and 27 per cent of the gate, Hurley said.

10,520 CHAMPIONSHIPS could be fought in DUNLOP CITY

THE arena in which Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney decide the world's heavyweight championship is 9½ acres in area.

Imagine a city large enough to hold 10,520 such championship bouts at one time. Such would be "Dunlop City," if Dunlop's 100,000 acres of productive properties were combined into one area.

Dunlop's immense size is the result of 40 years of tire championship. Dunlops have been and are better tires—with greater safety, greater tread mileage, and greater carcass strength. This is only natural.
With vast rubber plantations,
$195,000,000 in resources, 40 years' experience, and 45,000
craftsmen—Dunlop possesses unmatched tire-building advantages.

And Dunlop knows that the three major qualities you want in your tires are these:

1. Life of tread . . . 2. Strength of body . . . 3. Safety of design.

Dunlop treads wear down so slowly you will be amazed. The rubber, a blend of different types, is the toughest compound ever achieved. Every batch that is milled is re-analyzed before it goes into a tire.

The strength of a tire's body depends on the strength and stretch of the cotton. Dunlop pays extra for the long staple kind that grows only in upper Egypt. This is woven into cord in Dunlop's own spinning mill at Utica, N. Y.

Safety is largely a matter of design. The Dunlop experimental fleet drives over a million road miles each year. These practical tests have helped create the extraordinary non-skid design for which Dunlops are known.

Get in touch with your Dunlop dealer. You will probably find he has earned a reputation for good service.

Consider his reliability. Then consider the fact that 26 million Dunlops are now in use.
Surely, your conclusion will be that Dunlops are the tires
you want.

COLLET CLAIMS CITY COMMITTEE SUPPORT

Senatorial Candidate Says 23 of 28 Members Are for Him.

The support of 23 of the 28 members of the Democratic City Committee was claimed yesterday by James A. Collet of Salisbury, candidate for the senatorial nomination, following a meeting of the committee at which he spoke.

Collet added that while he had not canvassed the committee he was assured that only five of its members had failed to come in under his banner, and that these five were lukewarm supporters of Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, his opponent.

In his address to the committee Collet declared Hay would get the support of the Smith bolters in the party and asserted that his opponent has no intention of harmonizing his dry views with those of Democratic leaders.

"If he is elected he will go to the Senate as a representative of the Anti-Saloon League, and the Anti-Saloon League is supporting Hoover," he said. "Hay has occupied high positions in the league. At one time he was its attorney and at another a member of the national directorate."

"I have asked him repeatedly if he intends to endorse or repudiate the league and he has made no answer."

Collet was endorsed last night by the Fifth Ward Democratic Precinct Organization, meeting at 620 Chestnut street. Francis M. Wilson was endorsed for Governor, Samuel Rosenfeld for Lieutenant Governor and State Senator Michael Kinney for re-election.

In a radio address last night Hay discussed national questions, declaring the honest government was the paramount issue, and adding that the Republican party had failed to give it.

AUBURN

Breaks All Stock Car Records

For 24 hours and all intermediate times and distances

No Other Stock Car Has Ever Travelled So FAR, So FAST

July 1st, on Atlantic City Speedway under sanction and supervision of A. A. A. An Auburn Model 115 Stock Speedster, Powered by Lycoming—for 1 to 24 Hours!

BREAKS ALL STOCK CAR RECORDS—

for 1 to 2000 Miles!

2033 miles in 24 hours, averaging

84.7354 m. p. h.

Beating Former Record by 9.112 m. p. h.

Why?

To sell speed? No!

It is unlawful to drive 100 miles an hour.

And you do not want to average 84 miles an hour.

But it proves ENDURANCE and VALUE, and that was the purpose of this test.

A car capable of this abnormal sustained speed and relentless tax upon its every part, establishes its value with finality.

Breaking these records is incidental.

But giving buyers a true measure of a car's endurance, and what they can expect in long life, continual service, and ability to stand up, is all important.

There is nothing manufacturers could do to so completely prove the merit, the soundness and the stamina of their cars than the merciless grind of this 24-hour proving-ground punishment.

FLAWS MEAN FAILURE

A car one iota less strong, or one iota less perfectly designed and built, could not withstand this gruelling strain.

If any one of several thousand parts in the car had not been absolutely correct and reliable, it could have prevented this amazing demonstration of efficiency and endurance.

Therein lies the significance of this performance for the car buyer.

Think how indefinitely and satisfactorily a car will travel at normal speeds, when it can survive unimpaired the crucial demands necessary in order to travel 2033 miles in 1440 minutes. That is harder on a car than years of average use.

It means that at 40, 50 and 60 miles an hour you are not over-taxing your Auburn. It means Auburn has tremendous reserve, and almost limitless capacity for continuous service.

It means you get more for your money. And that what you get is a certainty, not a gamble.

PERFECT PERFORMANCE

During this entire 24-hour test the Auburn car required no mechanical attention whatsoever. The carburetor was adjusted once. The only stops made during the 2,033 miles were for replenishing water, gas and oil—also for tire changes for safety. Mechanically, the car required no more attention than if it had just been driven around a city block, conclusively showing its strong construction and wonderful reliability.

This car was equipped with a high compression head, fuel pump, and 3.4 axle ratio which is standard for all Speedsters. It had wire wheels and 6-ply tires, including two spare wheels and tires on sides, which are optional equipment.

This means it was a fully equipped stock car as sold and delivered off the salesroom floor.

AN INVITATION

You are invited to inspect and drive exact duplicates of the Auburn Model 115 stock car that holds these amazing records.

See for yourself what a pleasure and RELIEF it is to drive a fully equipped car that can travel faster than any other stock car has ever done in this class. See how differently and better this car does the things YOU want a car to do. If it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.

Add to this revelation of automobile progress, the fact that Auburn gives you this built-in value and endurance in a long, low, smart, roomy, Straight Eight closed car for less than many of the better Sixes.

A Hauptmann Masterpiece

HERBERT OF SOANA." By Hauptmann. (The Modern Library.)

It is difficult matter to say what is the best of this exquisite work by Gerhart Hauptmann, though known less widely than many of his other works, it is one of the finest. The difference between the two is less than many people must be aware of. Yet it is in the difference between the two that the book is as hostile to the sentimentalism of the past as it is to the sentimentalism of the present. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama. It is a masterpiece of the new drama, and it is a masterpiece of the new drama.

"BROOK EVANS." By Susan Glasgow. (Frederick A. Stokes Company.)

When Naomi Kellogg was young she loved Joe Copeland, but her parents disapproved and she was not permitted to "entertain" him in the parlor, so they met clandestinely by the brook that ran through adjoining Kellogg and Copeland farms. In the natural course they would have been married, but Joe was killed in an accident, and later, in the natural course, there was impending disaster for Naomi. That gave Caleb Evans his chance. He was willing, with full knowledge of the situation, to marry Naomi and, urged by her parents, she accepted him before he left Iowa and went out to Colorado. There her baby daughter was born, and in remembrance of the brook Naomi named her Brook Evans.

Caleb Evans, although there was the color of nobility in his separation of a woman who had given her life to another, was not a heroic figure and Naomi, while acknowledging her indebtedness to him, despised him. She was resolved that her daughter should find the happiness which she had missed, and when romance came to the girl her mother, to encourage her in resisting the authority of Caleb Evans, told her that he was not her father.

It was a revelation to which Brook Evans was not equal. She turned from her mother and gave to the man who was not her father the devotion to which she felt she was entitled for his assumption of the role, investing him with a nobility which could hardly be said to fit him.

Naomi died. And, in a manner of speaking, this story died when Naomi died. It is never again the story that it was before.

Brook Evans, relinquishing her own romance, went away as a missionary, and that is the end of her as the daughter of her mother, for when she reappears in the story, after a good many years, she has given up her missionary labors and is a woman of the European world very unlike the Brook Evans who lived on a Colorado farm. In her transformation, which is not traced by the author, she has become disoriented from everything that was before. For the loss of the end it is a different story, and not so good a story. For the loss nothing is gained except to confirm the feeling that she is scarcely entitled to the honor of having named for her a book that would better have been named "Naomi Evans."

Married and a widow and the mother of a son, she sends him back to Iowa, at last, to see Caleb Evans, his "grandfather," before he dies, while she remains in Europe for the sake of a second, belated romance, and the story ends, ineffectually, with an overdrawn picture of life as the son found it in Iowa among his mother's people.—F. SHOOT 97 SCORE

Alton Postal Clerk Wins First Honors at Training Camp.

After a day of practice shooting, the First Battalion of the Citizens Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks yesterday fired for record on the rifle range and established some high marks for the other two battalions to attempt to surpass.

Henry E. Fones, B Company, an employee of the Alton, Ill., post-office, took first honors with a score of 97 out of a possible 100 points. B. F. Adams Jr., A Company, of Newark, Ark., was second with a score of 93. Nine selected students average 85.4 in pistol marksmanship.

The Second Battalion will go on the range tomorrow.

Last night's entertainment consisted of wrestling and boxing bouts and the semi-weekly dance. Today's schedule includes routine drill with an afternoon at the Browns' ball game for the men of the Third Battalion as guests of the team.

Next week's features include an all-day track and field meet Wednesday to which the public is invited, and a regimental review Friday by Col. C. C. Low, commander of the 138th Infantry, Missouri National Guard.

The month of military training will close Monday, Aug. 6, with a regimental parade and the formal return of colors to the Sixth Infantry, after which the 1400 student soldiers will turn in their uniforms and equipment preparatory to going home Tuesday.

Military Organizations Meet.

Representatives of military and patriotic organizations met today at luncheon at the American Annex Hotel to discuss a schedule of monthly luncheons for the winter. Major-General Charles P. Summerall will be the speaker at the first luncheon on Sept. 25. Col. E. L. Butts, chief of staff of the 102d Division, announced that Summerall will be in St. Louis, Sept. 24, to attend a meeting that evening of the "three-in-one" army, that is, regulars, National Guard and organized reserves.

Five New Priests Assigned.

Archbishop Glennon has announced the assignment of five young priests graduated from Kenrick Seminary. The Rev. W. H. Baudendistel, Immaculate Conception Church; the Rev. Arthur J. New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 25.

THE business of being a master of ceremony at cabarets, night clubs, theaters and movies has become one of the highest paid jobs in the world of entertainment. Salaries in instances surpass those of stars in the legitimate theater.

Ballet started it with his Chase Souris, slipping in and out and exploding conversation like a bottle of pop. The first American master of ceremonies was the blond fete-locked Raymond Hitchcock, who took tickets at his own show and wandered up and down the aisle shaking hands with customers.

The notion added a touch of intimacy the theater had never known. Performers heretofore were to be looked at and heard, but familiarity was taboo. Night clubs and cabarets seized the idea and enlarged it. They picked out celebrities as well as "butter and egg men," and flattered them.

The success of Texas Guinan was in her capitalization of the trick. She attracted a heavy spending ringside patronage among those who went there solely to be targets for her sophisticated sallies. They purred to being hailed with: "Hello, Sucker!"

Today there are probably a dozen masters of ceremonies whose weekly pay checks are from $1000 to $5000. A glorified cinema temple brought the highly exploited Paul Ash from Chicago to Broadway at $3500 a week for a long engagement. He was little known outside of the Windy City.

Among the most adroit and highly paid ballets are Ben Bernie, Frank Fay, Ed Wynn, Julius Tannen, Dr. Rockwell, Phil Baker and no benefit is quite complete without Al Jolson or Eddie Cantor to introduce the acts and josh the customers.

In New York—as this is written and according to a theatrical agency—there are 183 masters of ceremonies functioning. These include those in Bowery burlesque halls, coffee houses of the East Side, the Broadway cabarets, night clubs and glorified musical revues.

THE master of ceremonies racket is a sop to almost every New Yorker's ache to be noticed. Most of us are loners who are called out by name before a big crowd of folks we have a feeling we are quite a fellow about town. And this attitude is not particularly confined to Manhattan.

ABOUT the only section of New York acquiring a Sunday manner is Wall street and surrounding neighborhood. The Sabbath hush is pronounced. Majestic buildings have a silent grandeur—an efficacy of solemnity a bit sadly denying. There are people walking slowly among the graves of Trinity and St. Paul's. Pigeons coo and flutter in the canyons and the daily burrah of the financial world seems far away.

SEVERAL Broadway movie smokes are passing out free copies of morning papers to patrons of their late performances. That helps them to forget.

ONE of those Russian performers who will snap into a sitting down dance at the first wheeze of an accordion got his boot caught in a lady's chair in a cabaret the other night and the lady sat kerplunk on the floor. Her escort took a hand in the footwork, and the gentleman will have to stand up for several days, even to eat.

WORTH A MILLION, MAN LEAVES HIS WIDOW $5 BILL

Former Steel Magnate, in Will, Says She Was Liberally Provided for During His Lifetime.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The will of Alexander Roland Peacock, a Scotchman, who rose from a department store clerkship to the vice presidency of the Carnegie Steel Co., was filed for probate yesterday.

Peacock, once reputed to be worth $15,000,000, left to his widow, Irene M. Peacock, a $5 bill. His secretary gets 150 shares of Gulf Oil Corporation stock or $10,000 in cash in case the securities do not realize that amount. His valet receives $2500, while four children get $100 each.

In explanation of his bequest to his widow, Peacock wrote in his will:

"It is intended by me to be in full and in lieu of bar of her dower and all and every right or interest in and to my estate. I make only this provision for reasons well known to her, including the fact that I have amply and liberally provided for her during my lifetime."

The children receiving $100 bequests are Clarence Neilson and Roland Bedell Peacock, Mrs. J. Laroque Anderson and Irene Margaret Peacock.

Two sisters, Miss Isabella Norval and Mrs. Janet C. Norval of East Orange, N. J., receive life incomes of $50 a month. A daughter, Miss Jean E. Peacock, gets the residuary estate, the value of which was not estimated, but is said to be around $1,000,000. Peacock stipulated, however, that this daughter should receive $25,000 a year until she is 30 years old when the entire interest and principal shall accrue to her.

The will stipulates that the legacy of any beneficiary who contests the document shall be invalidated. Peacock, who died July 12, came to the United States six years ago from Dunfermline, Scotland. After working in a department store, he went to Andrew Carnegie for a loan of $1500. He repaid the money so promptly that the steel man took special notice of his fellow countryman and gave him a job. Eventually Peacock became vice president of the Carnegie company.

In all the circumstances and I was not for him."

Reed is interested in Investments. Senator Reed seemed to be as much interested in West's investments as he was in his politics.

"You said you had consulted with Mr. Insull about investments," Reed observed. "Did you regard this as a consultation about an investment?"

West's reply disclosed that he and Insull reciprocated in asking each other for money. "Mr. Insull has asked me for money," he said. "I gave him $5000 for St. Luke's Hospital. I am one of the guarantors of the Chicago Opera Co., of which he is the head. I have been a season ticket holder there ever since we had grand opera. Mr. Insull is president of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital. He has always asked me to contribute to anything he is interested in, and I have returned the compliment every time."

"Do you represent any of the Insull companies professionally?" Reed asked.

"Yes," West replied. "I have since 1897, not in a large way; but we try some cases for them, and have since that time. Mr. Beale was the general counsel for the company. He was corporation counsel of the City of Chicago from 1895 to 1897, when I was City Attorney. I was a youngster, and I became acquainted with him, and he asked me to try cases for the old Chicago Edison Co., which I did through the years, and my firm has since."

Trusted Insull's Judgment. Reed asked West about the three Insull companies in which he was an investor. West stated that they had extensive holdings which had consistently increased in value. This, he said, had led him to believe "very thoroughly" in Insull's business judgment.

"He is supposed to be the greatest operator of utility properties in the world," he observed.

"To control properties worth what sum?" Reed asked. "I have no idea, but very, very great sums," West replied. "I have such confidence in Mr. Insull as an operator of utilities properties that I have made very substantial investments with him, without inquiring into very many details."

Neither Senator Walsh nor Senator Dill is in Washington at present and their views on West's testimony could not be obtained here. Both undoubtedly will want to know how extensive West's interests in the Insull properties are. Whether or not their findings would justify a fight on the Senate floor is doubtful.

West was sworn in at 3 o'clock this afternoon by W. Bertrand Ackers, chief clerk, at a ceremony which was attended by Dr. Hubert Work, the retiring Sec. ary.

Five East St. Louis Bars Raided.

Prohibition agents who raided five saloons, four of them within a block of the East St. Louis police headquarters yesterday reported finding liquor at each place and arrested six men and two women. Those held said they were George Wisela, Fred Stacker and his wife, Mary, John Som, Gus Ginkis, George Winters and John Kureletis and his wife, Mary.

SEARCHING FOR HER FAMILY

Miss Marie Thekla Greenwald, 19-year-old adopted daughter of Mrs. Harry F. Hagar of Muncie, Ind., is in St. Louis with Mrs. Hagar searching for her family, the members of which she has never seen. She is the daughter of Adolph and Marie Greenwald and born in City Hospital, 1908. The Greenwalds after a daughter, Margaret, adopted by Mrs. Hagar as infant. She and Mrs. Hagar are friends at 6001 Dewey street.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Only two papers in the New York evening field succeeded in lifting themselves up over the GAIN line for the first six months of the year, with THE EVENING WORLD so decisively in the lead as to establish more securely than ever its value to the advertisers of the city.

National Advertising

With an increase of 32.6%, THE EVENING WORLD'S gain of 290,602 lines in National Advertising likewise far outdistanced all other National gains in the evening field, proving again that in following the course set by the local merchant the National advertiser best serves his purpose in the economical and efficient coverage of his market.

This image shows a vertical strip of a book's endpaper or flyleaf. The paper is light-colored, possibly off-white or cream, with a visible vertical crease or fold line running down the center. The left edge of the strip is dark and textured, indicating the binding of the book. The right edge is also dark and appears slightly irregular or torn. The overall appearance is that of an old, worn piece of paper.

700 STRIKERS CLASH WITH POLICE AT NEW BEDFORD

Crowd of 5000 Looks On; Eight, Including One Woman, Arrested.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 25.—This city was peaceful today after experiencing the most vigorous clash between striking textile workers and police since 28,000 mill employees walked out 15 weeks ago.

Five thousand persons last night watched reserves fight a crowd outside the Sharp Mill. Seven policemen were injured. Eight mill workers or sympathizers were arrested.

The outbreak came shortly after a new offer from the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration at Boston to settle the controversy over a 10 per cent wage cut.

Seven hundred pickets surrounded the mill. Trouble started when police arrested two men and a woman on charges of parading without a permit. It was August 3, C. Pinto's eighth arrest since the strike started and as he was being hustled into the patrol wagon he shook his fist and shouted in Portuguese.

Soon fight was on. When streets were cleared the three original captives were safely held by the police with five others.

ALEXANDER FILCHOWSKI FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

Wake for Polish Leader to Be Held Tonight at 1938 Cass Avenue.

The funeral of Alexander Filchowski, steel worker and local Polish leader, who suffered fatal injuries in an automobile accident in front of 4529 Broadway, will be held tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. in St. Stanislaus' Church, 1405 North Twentieth street. A wake will be held tonight at the offices of the Polish Home Association, 1938 Cass avenue, of which Filchowski was the chairman.

Filchowski was returning Sunday from a picnic in a truck driven by Frank Reichert, a butcher, of 2320 South Eleventh street, when in the attempt to pass another car, the truck, heavily loaded with meats and grocery supplies left over from the picnic, was upset. Filchowski fell into the street, suffering a fractured skull. He died the next day.

Reichert was ordered held for the grand jury on a charge of criminal carelessness.

Maria Conesa Reaches Havana.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, July 25.—Maria Conesa, dancer-actress, who was involved in the smuggling plot that caused the dismissal of Gen. Jose Alvarez as chief of staff for the President of Mexico, arrived here today by airplane from New York.

She was expelled from Mexico, St. Paul, she said she had no definite plans, but that she hoped to reside in Havana where she made her foreign debut 20 years ago.

GAINS SPEECH IN AIR

Mrs. Carl Stiber with the baby boy she found in the parlor of her home at 2634 N. Twenty-first street early last Saturday morning. A note found with the baby, now 10 days old, said of Mrs. Stiber, "I know you, but you don't know me." Mrs. Stiber, whose own child died two months ago, intends to adopt the foundling, and for the legal formalities she is anxious that the mother renounce her claim on the baby.

DOMESTIC DIALOGUES

By Frances Olivier

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Scene: A hot, squat bungalow on the edge of a lake which reflects the merciless glare of a July sun at its worst. There isn't enough breeze to budge a blade of grass.

HUSBAND—Gosh! Nothing stirring but the heat waves!

WIFE—You can't expect fine weather every day, darling.

HUSBAND—Every day? Why, we haven't had one decent day since we came up here? Either we're drowned or we're boiled! I wish we were back in the city, that's what I wish!

WIFE—Never mind, dear. Only two months more and then we'll be back in the city.

HUSBAND—It seems to me, Letitia, that sort of humor is decidedly out of place.

WIFE—Humor? Aren't we going to be here another two months? You told the Harleys they could have our apartment until October.

HUSBAND—Good Lord, I didn't—did I?

WIFE—Now you're joking.

HUSBAND—Do you mean to tell me the Harleys are going to enjoy our nice, cool, airy apartment for another two months while we have to suffer out here in this infernal hole. It's ridiculous!

WIFE—Cheer up, it's probably 55 in the shade, in town.

HUSBAND—Believe me, it's any hotter in town than it is out here, there's not going to be any town by tomorrow morning!

WIFE—Now, sweetheart, you know it isn't as bad as all that!

HUSBAND—(striding up and down the rickety porch of his "country, east")—You know, every time I think of that fat-head Harley sitting in my big chair by the window, I feel like—Oh, well, what's the use. No use crying over spilled milk, I guess. (He throws himself on the hammock, wearily.)

WIFE—That's right, dear, just you relax.

HUSBAND—(starting up from the hammock)—Relax? I'm sick relaxing—that's all anybody can do out in this place! Re-lax! Humph! Every time I think of those two heads being able to jump into the subway and go to a nice cool movie on Broadway, I want to take a train right back and put 'em out of our house!

WIFE—Wouldn't you like some nice, cold lemonade, honey?

HUSBAND—I notice every time I say anything about this place, Letitia, you ask me if I wouldn't like some nice, cold lemonade. What's the idea, anyway?

WIFE—Why, I hadn't noticed I'd been doing that especially. (She disappears into the house and emerges a few minutes later with the lemonade.)

HUSBAND—Letitia, I'm beginning to think you really like this God-forsaken piece of land out here.

WIFE—Oh, it isn't half bad—you know it isn't!

HUSBAND—How you can stand that glaring hot lake out there, day after day, and the mosquito solo every single night, and what with the damned birds yelling so in the morning you can't catch up on any sleep. . . . Letitia, I think you must be phlegmatic!

WIFE—So that's all the thanks I get for being a good sport. . . . You and your easy chair by the window! Humph! . . . How would you feel if you had to get three meals a day on an old, one-armed old stove and had to risk your neck every time you wanted a lemon—Oh, yes, wells are so romantic—while some other woman, not half as nice as yourself, goes prancing around the model kitchen that you were fool enough to let a bigger fool drag you away from!

HUSBAND—Letitia, are you insulting me?

WIFE—Are you the person who exchanged a certain big, airy, comfortable apartment with a 1928 kitchen for this hot box with a stove that belongs in some museum? Well, then I guess I AM insulting you!

HUSBAND—Never satisfied. Always complaining about something. That's women for you!

WIFE—(fully clothed) walks straight into the lake.

CURTAIN.

Household Hints

Mahogany furniture should not be placed where the summer sun will strike it, as this exposure will remove its gleaming finish.

You will be able to readily transfer the vaseline, without any waste, from the original bottle to the fancy jar on the dressing table if you set the bottle of vaseline on back of range until vaseline is melted.

A pen which seems absolutely useless will continue to give excellent service if you hold it over a flame (the gas will do) about a quarter of a second, then dip it into water.

When the knob comes off a cover and there is no supply on hand, just insert one of those small cork screws from the under side and screw a clean cork on the top. You can paint the cork to match the colored bottle.

CHIC CHERIE

They Smell Nice Anyway

When is a flower not a flower? When it's fashionable! Cherie must be thinking something of this sort if she is thinking anything at all as she admires the shoulder flower of rubberized Bodier fabric which she holds in her hand. The rubber flower is no more or less chic than the suede, tipped with metal, blossom on the shoulder of her frock. It's the frock that decides the question of the flower, of course. Dresses like these Dina and Cherie are wearing are in absolute need of a rose or two on one shoulder. If you will notice that the drape and bodice-florence of Dina's frock both come to a point on one shoulder, and the trimming of Cherie's sheer crepe does the same, you'll admit the flower.

The double carnation in the upper left hand corner is of black and white satin, circled satin at that. It might also be a couple of other colors. Upper right is a gardenia of wood pulp which is the latest notion of a famous Paris designer of hats. The cluster of berries is of pearl beads and green leaves. Lower left is a flower of tweed with kid leaves, for sports. The large cluster at the lower right is of chiffon in several pastel shades. You'll be interested to know that all the petals have rolled edges instead of being allowed to go raggedly as most chiffon flowers do. And in the very right hand side of the whole picture you will see Cherie applying the necessary odor to the rose.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

WHITEY HAS A NEW HOME.

Accept that offered you today.

Tomorrow still is for away.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

WHITEY was a prisoner. He was caught in a trap—a box trap set by Farmer Brown's Boy especially to catch him. He wasn't in the least hurt. But, oh, how frightened Whitey was! How he did wish he had heeded his mother. She had warned him to keep away from that trap. He hadn't obeyed. This was the result.

It was dark inside that trap. All Whitey could do was to sit there and wonder what was going to happen. I am mistaken; it wasn't quite all he could do. He could eat. Not even his fright could quite overcome that fact. After awhile he became aware that there was the pleasant odor of carrots in there. When he could no longer resist the temptation, he began to nibble a piece of carrot that was fastened to the little stick that had sprung the trap. It tasted good. It helped him to forget his troubles. He ate every bit of it.

It seemed to Whitey that he had been there days and days, when really he had only been there two or three hours. Then he heard footstep. He knew by the sound that they were footstep of somebody very big. The trap was picked up. That gave Whitey a terrible feeling. The door was opened ever so little and Farmer Brown's Boy peeped in.

"Aha!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "I've got you this time! Probably you are scared almost to death, but you don't need to be. Do you know why I've caught you? Of course you don't. I've caught you to save your life. You will live longer now than if you hadn't been caught."

Of course, Whitey didn't understand a word of this. Even if he had understood he wouldn't have believed a word of it. He would have been sure that nothing more dreadful could have happened to him.

Across the Green Meadows and up the Long Lane, straight to the barn, Whitey was carried, but, of course, he had no idea of where he was being carried. He couldn't even peep outside. Once in the barn, Farmer Brown's Boy very carefully opened the door and put his hand in the trap. Then he lifted Whitey out. Poor Whitey! He was terribly frightened. Yet even in his fright he realized that Farmer Brown's Boy was very gentle. The latter looked Whitey all over.

"There isn't any doubt about it," said he to Farmer Brown, who had come to see what he had. "This is one of Peter Rabbit's children. It is a white cottontail Rabbit—an albino. I had thought it might be somebody's tame Rabbit which had escaped, but it isn't."

"What are you going to do with him?"

"I'm going to keep him," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. "I've got a nice pen for him and he'll be safe

Whitey couldn't get out, but neither could his enemies get in.

there. He wouldn't be safe if I should let him go. With that white coat he is too easily seen. It wouldn't be long before a hawk or an owl or a fox picked him up."

So Whitey was taken outside to a nice, comfortable wire pen. There was a nice little house in it, with a roof of hay. There was room enough in the pen to hop about, and, best of all, there was plenty of food. Whitey couldn't get out, but neither could any of his enemies get in. He was as safe as Farmer Brown's Boy had said, quite safe. His new home was even safer than the dear Old Briar-patch and that is saying a good deal.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THE FAULT.

THERE are a host of causes to assign

For failure and mistake,

Not easily can any man resign

The plan he joyed to make,

And so he blames the day or wind or crowd,

His helpers or his foes;

But not himself; his stubborn will is proud,

Still unconvinced he goes.

It is a wiser way to seek the flaw

That lay, unguessed, within

To mar the perfect working of the law

Whereunder each may win.

Within, alone, lie all the faults that turn

Man's feet down failure's maze;

Within lie, too, the splendid traits that spur

That spur to better ways.

In Lieu of a Wall Brush.

If you have no wall brush, cover the broom with a piece of clean flannel and brush ceiling and walls with a downward stroke. As the covering becomes soiled it must be replaced with a new one. You will find it as effective as a brush.

Super Race by Child Control Is Possibility

ENOUGH is known of psychology and mental processes today to make possible production of a super race of men and women if proper means of controlling the environment and instruction of children were available, in the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction in Nebraska.

Principles of psychology and psychiatry applied to human problems of child growth is the key to the situation, he says.

In the schools of the future, the problem-child, whether subnormal or supernormal, will be carefully studied, advised and controlled according to principles of psychological analysis, Taylor predicts.

The nerve system of the present generation probably are not developing in harmony with the new times fast enough to meet present day needs.

"One result of this is a continually increasing number of mentally unbalanced youths. Numbers of them fly off on tangents of human conduct and commit all sorts of emotional or brainstorm crimes."

"Society is going to be compelled to adopt some means of protecting itself from this peculiar nervous product of modern times—from the large numbers of emotional crimes and moral delinquencies on the part of youthful criminals now so prevalent."

"It is easy to imagine a time when numbers of young people will go into adult life with definite restrictions on their personal liberties under a sort of parole or guardianship relation to some individual in the community. The danger of interfering with individual liberties produces one serious objection to any scheme of this kind, but individual liberties always have been curtailed in the last analysis, when the need of the larger social good seemed to demand it."

The schools of the future will provide adequate psychiatric and psychological staffs for the observation and advice of all children as individuals. Vocational guidance, and perhaps some measure of vocational control, will be part of the educational system. As much attention will be paid to mental health and balance as to mere learning processes."
